

FOOTBALL PITCH FEES GOING UP

Report by Andrew Turton

FOOTBALL pitch fees will rise for the second year in a row across Dudley borough – despite claims that almost half of the pitches are in a ‘poor’ state.

Teams currently pay around £518 a season to use council pitches and changing rooms but this is set to rise by two per cent under proposals.

An investigation last year found that only 97 out of 167 pitches were found to be average or good condition with 70 found to be ‘poor’.

Overhanging trees, worn out surfaces and outdated changing rooms are among the problems highlighted. Teams say the fee rise was expected but want more to be done to improve the condition of pitches. Last year council officials proposed putting up fees by 40 per cent but backed down following talks with teams over maintenance costs.

Dudley Council is backing £2 million plans for new all-weather pitches in the borough including at Hillcrest School in Netherton and The Dell Stadium, Pensnett.

Brian Sutton, a representative of the Dudley and Cradley Heath Football League, welcomed those plans but said traditional pitches also needed to be cared for.

Alternatives

“It is just the way it is at the moment that these things have to go up,” said Mr Sutton, who also sits on an advisory group to the council called Dudley Football Forum. “At least it isn’t the 40 per cent they said last year.”

“Not much is done with the pitches. They cut them but they don’t rake them or put fertiliser on them regularly.”

Councillor Patrick Harley, who helps manage The Swan pub team which plays on Wordsley Park, said the council should be looking at alternatives for funding.

The opposition Conservative group leader added: “When we had control of the council we would be looking to bring in people that could cut the grass a lot cheaper than the council.”

Under plans, the cost will increase to £527.90 to hire the football pitch and changing rooms per season. The pitch and changing rooms hire on a casual basis will be £50.49 per match, up from £49.50. Junior football teams pay £182.90 for an up to nine-a-side pitch but will pay £186.56 under the planned increases.

A report to Councillor Hilary Bills, who oversees parks, said: “The council’s budget target requires on average a minimum increase in fees and charges of two per cent for 2016/17, however there are a number of services where, due to budget constraints, cost levels and market conditions, a higher rate than this is necessary.”

Clearing up of rubbish starts again

WORK has re-started clearing a huge rubbish pile next to homes in Brierley Hill – after the project was hit by delays due to a change in contractors.

Rubbish at one time towered at around 40ft at the Refuse Derived Fuel plant, in Moor Street, which led to a campaign from councillors and residents for a clean-up of the mountain of waste, which involved the Environment Agency.

Rubbish has been piled up at the site for more than six years leading to a court battle to have it removed. It was a saga that resulted in High Court action with company director Robert McNaughton jailed for failing to remove it in 2013.

Contractors originally moved on to the site at the end of January but work paused, to the frustration of residents. But it resumed last week after a change of contractors.

It has been revealed that proposals to build flats on the RDF site are likely to be resurrected once the rubbish is cleared. A scheme to build two modern blocks containing 94 flats was unveiled last year but stalled as a developer feared they might be landed with the clean-up bill.

More shops closing than are opening

STOURBRIDGE saw the biggest percentage rate of closures of multiple chain shops in the Black Country in 2015.

But across the region, as a whole, the rate of shops shutting slowed according to research for PricewaterhouseCoopers.

Birmingham, which saw the new Grand Central development open, bucked the trend of closures with an increase of 29 shops over the year.

But in Stourbridge there was a 5.32 per cent fall from 94 to 89 shops with 10 shops closing and five opening.

In Dudley there was a 2.86 per cent decline with six openings and nine closures and in Halesowen a 1.39 per cent decline with one opening and two closures.

Andy Lyon, partner and head of retail at PwC West Midlands, said: “The openings are concentrated on experience type outlets, especially food and beverage. The closures reflect ongoing structured changes in retail banking and the higher regulatory hurdles facing so called ‘money shops’. Fashion has taken another battering.”

Brave Dennis, 82, is king of the castle

‘I’ll give it a go’ – stroke survivor Dennis Tipper, aged 82, abseils down Dudley Castle walls in aid of the Stroke Association

Wonder wall effort

AN 82-year-old stroke survivor scaled the heights of Dudley Castle to raise money for charity – then said ‘I would get up there and do it again in a shot’.

Dennis Tipper, from Lye, came down 100ft off the castle walls to raise more than £300 for the Stroke Association.

Fundraisers gathered to see Mr Tipper take on the abseil along with his son-in-law Frank Cragge and friend Michelle O’Meara.

More than 30 people had abseiled the medieval walls of the popular attraction during the course of the event on Saturday.

Mr Tipper, who attends the Dudley Stroke Association group, said: “This is something that is incredibly close to my heart after I suffered a stroke myself. To be able to be here today and to do this feels great.

“There is a group of us and we all meet and support each other and when I heard about the abseil I thought why not give it a go.”

Son-in-law Frank Cragge, aged 51, confessed before the taking the spiral staircase to the castle towers that he was petrified of heights.

He said: “Going over the edge at the top was the worst bit but once you’ve done that it feels amazing.”

Michelle O’Meara from Dudley, who works with the support group, said she was touched by Dennis’ story and felt the need to join in to help the work of the Stroke Association.

HOUSING

More than 120 new homes are planned

MORE than 120 homes will be built on the former Ridge Hill Hospital site in Wordsley after the plan won the backing of Dudley councillors.

A mix of houses and apartments will be built at the site on Brierley Hill Road, with 129 homes to be created in total.

Most of the empty buildings in the hospital grounds will be demolished.

The site has long been a target for developers keen to transform the site. Plans for homes at the site were first lodged in 2007. Neighbours have long called for the site to be cleaned up and brought back to use.

Town pub goes up for sale at £225k

A PUB in Dudley town centre has been put up for sale with a price tag of £225,000.

The Malt Shovel in Tower Street, which is currently closed, is being advertised by property firm Rightmove.

The Malt Shovel has been a fixture of the town centre for decades and its potential sale has raised hopes that it could be taken over by new owners and re-opened. However, the pub building may also attract interest from property developers.

FIRE

Worker injured in blaze at a garage

A MAN was taken to hospital with burns to his face and hands after a severe blaze at an MOT test centre in the Black Country.

Up to four cars were damaged by the intensity of the flames at the garage in Old Hill on Friday afternoon.

Around 20 firefighters were called to Bridge Street Service Station, in Garratts Lane at around 1.30pm.

Garratts Lane had to be closed between Powke Lane and Wrights Lane due to the severity of the fire.

Firefighters from Haden Cross, Oldbury and Brierley Hill were on scene for more than two hours.

Outcry at fatal road tragedy sentence

A JUDGE has been criticised for giving a 'lenient' sentence to a postman who killed a father-of-eight by driving into him, having apparently fallen asleep at the wheel.

Sajid Hussain, aged 36, was given a suspended jail sentence and a community order after pleading guilty to causing the death of David Hinton, from Halesowen, by careless driving. But a campaign has now been launched by friends of Mr Hinton who want the sentence reviewed.

Hussain was at the wheel of a Volkswagen Polo when it struck Mr Hinton, 47, who had been putting his young children into his green Peugeot 206 in Oakham Road, Dudley.

Wolverhampton Crown Court heard that Hussain 'must have dozed off' before the collision near to the junction with Tansley Hill Road on June 20 last year.

Judge James Burbidge gave him an eight-month jail term suspended for two years, 200 hours of unpaid work and a three year driving ban. Sentencing him, the judge said: "The damage you have done to the Hinton family is immeasurable."

Mark Scott, who has set up a petition, claims Hussain, of Blackacre Road, Dudley, should have been given a harsher sentence. The petition has already been signed by 1,100 but needs 100,000 to go to Parliament.

He said: "I would like to have the lenient sentence overturned and a proper sentence given to Sajid Hussain who killed a family man leaving a widow and eight young children."

RUBBISH has been cleared months after being dumped in woods at Dudley. Waste near Castle Mill Road was removed by Dudley Council, after Dudley North MP Ian Austin contacted them on behalf of nearby residents.

OAP died after hospital car park accident

Ivan Tranter, aged 83

A PENSIONER died after being knocked down by car on a hospital car park, an inquest heard.

Ivan Tranter, aged 83, from Wellington Close, Kingswinford, suffered head injuries during the incident at Russells Hall Hospital on November 3 last year.

An inquest at Smethwick Coroners Court heard how Mr Tranter, who had attended a hospital appointment, was hit by a reversing vehicle.

A collision investigator said the driver would have not been able to see him due to a 'large blind spot area'.

Mr Tranter received treatment and was released from hospital to Hillcroft Nursing Home in Stourbridge. But his condition deteriorated and he was admitted to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham, where he died on November 27.

Pamela Broadbent, the driver of the car that struck Mr Tranter, described how she had been 'gently reversing' into a space when she heard a noise and jumped out of the Hyundai i10.

Mrs Broadbent, a retired IT Consultant from Dudley, said: "I was taking my husband for his hospital appointment and we had arrived half an hour early. We saw a van pull out a space. I checked over my right shoulder and then my left and continued to look around while gently reversing when I heard this scraping noise as if something had rolled under the car. Mr Tranter was lying face down a few feet away. It was a complete shock."

PC Mark Crozier, collision investigator, said it would have been impossible for Mrs Broadbent to see Mr Tranter. He added: "I would conclude it would have been impossible to see him because he would have been in quite a large blind spot area."

Coroner Mr Zafar Siddique concluded a verdict of death by road traffic collision.

4,000 jobs on the way at revived Waterfront

MORE than 4,000 jobs will be created at The Waterfront after the Chancellor George Osborne gave backing to revitalise the site.

Civic leaders say said the plans also hold the key to bringing the much-heralded Midland Metro extension to Brierley Hill.

Proposals to make The Waterfront and parts of neighbouring Harts Hill an enterprise zone were approved as part of the Chancellor's budget last Wednesday.

Businesses moving in will be given a business rate free period for five years to tempt them to move to the complex near the Merry Hill shopping centre.

Long term aims also include creating 66,000 sq ft of business space to improve what is already an offer to potential tenants.

Earlier plans for a new enterprise zone at The Waterfront stalled after they were shelved in favour of sites around Darlaston and Wolverhampton's i54 in 2011.

The Waterfront has been hit by problems in recent years after a series of high-profile business pulled out of the site. Currently around 40 per cent of the site is vacant.

During its heyday, The Waterfront was one of the borough's prime locations with waterside bars and restaurants adding to the vibrant atmosphere.

Success

Dudley Council leader, Councillor Pete Lowe, said the creation of the new zone marked a major success for Dudley and the region.

"Its development, alongside the delivery of the Metro, will create jobs for people not only living locally but for those living across the whole of the West Midlands," he said.

"This announcement shows huge confidence in what we are trying to achieve in Dudley borough, which can now take a leading role in creating jobs for the future."

Dudley councillor Khurshid Ahmed, the council's economic development chief, added: "The Waterfront is a high quality employment area, which like many areas across the country has suffered due to wider economic circumstances in recent years.

"It will be an exceptional location and the delivery of new transport links and environmental improvements will help stimulate further investment. The enterprise zone at the Waterfront will also be complemented by plans for significant housing growth."

Coseley's Niki Jones with dachshund puppy Bindi, who has deformed feet and needs a pioneering operation so she can walk like other dogs

Bionic dog bid to help fix Bindi

IT'S a dog's life for Bindi the dachshund. The pampered pooch looks down at her canine comrades from the vantage point of her own pram on trips to the park.

But the unlucky puppy has had it tough. Born with a condition that leaves her barely able to walk, the six-month-old could soon become the Black Country's own bionic dog thanks to a pioneering operation.

Devised owner Niki Jones is determined to give her the best life possible by raising £7,500 to give her a bionic paw. "I just want to give her the best quality of life," says Niki, 41, from Coseley.

Niki helps run a group for devoted dog fans who share her passion for dachshunds.

When she saw her pet Pepper had given birth to a tiny puppy, she soon realised something was wrong. Bindi, a miniature smooth haired dachshund, had defects to both her front paws.

Niki, who runs a computer sales and repairs business with her husband, has found a pioneering vet who can amputate the worst paw and replace it with a bionic one. See www.go.fundme.com/bionicbindi

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

AUNTIE Beeb says the Top Gear stunt, with a wheel-spinning Mustang clouding the Cenotaph in tyre smoke, will not be broadcast. Well, of course not. It has served its purpose. It has proved the old adage that there's no such thing as bad publicity.

ASK a silly question, get a silly answer. The form for a US visa asks: "Do you seek to engage in or have you ever engaged in terrorist activities, espionage, sabotage or genocide?" John McGarry, a blameless retired cop from Lancashire, says his travel agent mistakenly ticked the box. As a result Mr McGarry was marched off the cruise ship when it docked in New York and was questioned by police, an experience which he says ruined the trip.

MORE things misheard in youth. A former cookery teacher recalls the pupil who thought she was using self-erasing flour.

HERE comes the sun, and with it a lesson in physics. If I light our stove, the lounge takes about two hours to warm up. If the sun shines through the windows, the room warms up in 20 minutes. Even though it's 93 million miles away, the sun is remarkably good at making things hot. This rarely gets a mention in the issue of climate change, yet Google has more than a million references to climate change and solar activity, varied enough to endorse any theory you choose to support, and demolish the ones you don't like. Something to read while toasting in your hammock this blazing March.

THE Archbishop of Canterbury says it is not racist to worry about mass immigration, and he makes the headlines. Yet while it is moderately interesting to hear an archbishop admit migration can bring problems, it is far more interesting to hear a migrant saying the same. Keith Vaz, the Labour MP who came to the UK with his family in 1965, says the system for resettling asylum seekers is unfair. The usual line from the Left is that immigration, diversity and multiculturalism are wholly beneficial, and the more the merrier. The Left love to use words such as "cultural enrichment" and "vibrant" and try to pretend it's a joyous thing to have lots of non English-speaking surgeons, and schools where 50 languages are spoken. But Vaz says: "The dispersal system appears unfair, with whole swathes of the country never receiving a single asylum seeker." In other words, the inner-cities have had enough, time to share the vibrancy around.

Garden city seeks international backing

PLANS to turn the Black Country into Britain's biggest 'garden city' show the region has a bright future, business leaders claim.

The huge project, would see the Garden City built across 30 towns in and around Wolverhampton.

Around 45,000 homes would be built with open spaces and greenery, meeting the area's housing demand.

Tim Johnson, Wolverhampton's

strategic director, was showcasing the plan at MIPIM – Le marché international des professionnels de l'immobilier – conference at Cannes in the south of France.

Investment

Mr Johnson will be presenting Wolverhampton as a city of change, with the promise of £3.7 billion worth of investment in the pipeline.

The city council's economic chief, Councillor John Reynolds said: "MIPIM provides a global platform to sell what Wolverhampton has to offer."

The Black Country has joined forces with the wider West Midlands for the region's biggest ever bid for investment at MIPIM this year.

Tom Westley, leader member for the enterprise zone on the Black

Country Local Enterprise Partnership added: "Greater Birmingham's MIPIM 2016 delegation will be its biggest yet, demonstrating how the region's investment potential has gained real momentum and remains highly competitive."

"For the Black Country MIPIM is a fundamental opportunity to make new industry connections and stimulate investor interest."

GP practice is put into special measures

By Andrew Turton

A GP practice in Brierley Hill has been put into special measures and told to make improvements within six months.

Patients struggling to get appointments and no patient support group were among the problems found at the surgery serving 8,500 patients.

The Waterfront Surgery, at Brierley Hill Heath and Social Care Centre, was told to make improvement. Inspectors rated the practice as inadequate at providing safe, well-led and caring services as a result of the inspection carried out in December.

The inspectors said 63 per cent of patients at the surgery were satisfied with the practice's opening hours compared to the Clinical Commissioning Group average of 75 per cent and national average of 74.9 per cent.

The report added: "People told us on the day of the inspection that they were unable to get appointments when they needed them due to the phone system."

Monitor

Inspectors discovered that during November 270 appointments were not attended but there was 'no system in place to monitor or respond to this'.

Officials rated the surgery as requiring improvement in being responsive and effective. But inspectors said it performed better in other areas.

Janet Williamson, deputy chief inspector of general practice in the central region, said: "We saw that staff had the skills, knowledge and experience to deliver effective care and treatment. However, we also found that care and treatment was not always delivered in line with best practice. We have found significant areas of concern, which is why we are placing the practice into special measure. We know The Waterfront Surgery has acknowledged the areas where action must be taken. We will continue to monitor this practice and we will inspect again in six months."

Mayor opens UK's biggest carbon plant

Mayor Councillor Steve Waltho, centre, with Reinier Keijzer, of Chemviron and Bob O'Brien, of Calgon Carbon

THE Black Country now has the largest carbon reactivation plant in the UK following a £6.7 million investment by Chemviron Carbon.

Its 1.7-hectare site at Bean Road, Foxyards, is on the Dudley-Sandwell border near Tipton. It has been operating since early this year but Mayor of Dudley, Councillor Steve Waltho, visited the plant this month to carry out the official opening.

The former Graham Carbons site has been upgraded and extended over the last two-and-a-half years since it was bought from Severn Trent. The furnace has been increased in size and is now on five levels and its capacity has been raised from 5,800 tonnes a year to 10,000.

Chemviron Carbon's European vice president Reinier

Keijzer said that the plant had been established in 1996 as part of Severn Trent to reactivate all of its carbon, but in 2011 it had decided it was not a core business and had stopped operation.

"We have made significant changes and improvements to bring it to the latest industry standard," he said. "It is now a facility that is economically viable and can serve drinking water customers across the UK. This is now the largest activated carbon recycling by reactivation facility in the UK."

The Chemviron Carbon UK fleet of 14 tankers – able to transport 27 tonnes of carbon each – brings used carbon in and delivers treated newly clean carbon back to customers, mainly for use in treating drinking water.

Network Rail work disruption over Easter

RAIL users are being warned of major disruption as the line between Wolverhampton and Birmingham New Street closes for six days over Easter.

From tomorrow (Good Friday) until Wednesday, the line connecting the two cities will be closed due to work being undertaken by Network Rail on a key junction near Smethwick.

Four days of works are also taking place in Stafford to remove the last remaining bottleneck that causes delays on the West Coast Main Line.

During this time, London Midland trains will be significantly reduced and replacement bus services will be in use.

Martin Frobisher, route managing director for Network Rail, said: "The upgrade between Birmingham and Wolverhampton is essential to maintain a reliable infrastructure and involves a significant amount of work. It has been carefully planned to be completed as safely and quickly as possible."

"I appreciate there will be some disruption as a result of this work and I'd like to thank passengers for their patience while we carry out this investment to provide a better railway."

The work is part of Network Rail's £40 billion Railway Upgrade Plan.

On Good Friday, and the three days after, there will be half-hourly replacement bus service for local stations between Birmingham New Street and Wolverhampton.

Reduced direct train services will be provided by other operators such as Virgin Trains and CrossCountry.

New bus fleet for Ring and Ride

A WEST Midlands charity providing a discount bus service to people with limited mobility has launched a new fleet of vehicles.

Ring and Ride has launched seven new vehicles to benefit passengers living in the Black Country. They were unveiled at a ceremony held at the Black Country Living Museum last week. Each bus has been named after some of the charity's longest standing passengers, some have been using the door-to-door service for more than 30 years.

David Birmingham, chief executive for West Midlands Special Needs Transport, said: "This investment cements our commitment in continuing to provide our vital service to the people of Dudley, Sandwell, Walsall and Wolverhampton."

Charity quiz night is held in aid of Oxfam

PEOPLE can test their general knowledge at a quiz in aid of Stourbridge Oxfam on Wednesday, April 2, at Holy Trinity Church Hall in Amblecote at 7.30pm.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

THE Mayor of Dudley will be pounding the streets of the capital when he takes part in next month's London Marathon for his five mayoral charities.

Councillor Steve Waltho will be taking place in the world-famous 27 mile event on April 24.

People are also being encouraged to dig deep to sponsor the mayor and help his chosen charities: The Hope Centre, The What? Centre, More Mascots Please, Leukaemia Unit Appeal Fund at Russells Hall and The West Midlands Lupus Group.

Councillor Waltho, a veteran of 13 marathons, has secured the place in the marathon through the West Midlands Lupus Group, but the money raised will be divided between to all five charities.

Local businesses have already stepped forward to support the fund. by donating £5,000 towards the fund.

Councillor Waltho said: "The older you get the tougher these marathons get. I really do hope people will support me by donating whatever they can."

"These charities do such amazing work and I want to do everything I can to raise as much money to help them continue helping people."

"A huge thank you to the sponsors who have already come forward to support me."

The businesses backing the mayor include Bathams, intu, Cousins, Black Country Training Group and Solvay.

Drug dealer sent to prison for five years

A FORMER addict caught dealing Class A drugs for a third time has been sent to prison for five years and eight months.

Robert Pearce changed direction in his Ford Focus after spotting a police car in Sedgley. The move aroused the suspicion of the officers but the 49-year-old ignored their request to stop and accelerated away.

Wolverhampton Crown Court heard that police saw him throw a package out of a window of the vehicle. When recovered it was found to contain £600 worth of cocaine parcelled up into 15 £40 street deals.

Mr Alex Warren, prosecuting, said Pearce had two mobile phones, one of which rang 'constantly' while he was being quizzed by police at the scene. On it were discovered text messages linking him to drug deals with ten customers over two days.

The defendant had eight previous convictions involving 23 separate offences. These included the supply of heroin for which he received a prison sentence in 1997 and possession of heroin with intent to supply in 2000 while on licence following early release from the previous jail term.

Mr Christopher O'Gorman, defending, said Pearce had not committed any offence between 2008 and his latest arrest for drug dealing, which took place after the police pursuit on December 5, 2014.

The defendant from Limehouse, Hailes Park Close, Parkfields, admitted possession of cocaine with intent to supply.

Judge James Burbidge QC who told him: "You were out plying the trade of a drug dealer when you saw a police patrol, immediately took fright and threw a quantity of drugs out of the window. One of your phones that rang constantly while police were dealing with you and this was later found to contain further evidence of your drug dealing."

"You know how seriously courts view this kind of offending. You have two previous convictions for similar offences but the two significant periods of custody that these brought have not discouraged you."

Rapid rise in number of pupils being expelled

THE number of children expelled from Dudley secondary schools has risen by 75 per cent over a three year period.

Nearly half of the 89 students kicked out in 2014/15 were excluded because of persistent disruptive behaviour. Council chiefs labelled the numbers as 'a very rapid rise'.

In the 2012/2013 school year 51 pupils were permanently excluded across Key Stage 4 with that figure leaping to 89 for 2014/2015, an increase of 75 per cent. In 2013/2014 75 children were expelled. The highest increase came from Year 10 pupils with 11 expelled in 2012/2013 rising to 28 in 2014/2015. A total of 24 were excluded in 2013/2014.

Councillor David Vickers, of the council's People Services Scrutiny Committee, urged for more to be done. He said: "We need to do some hard work. I am disappointed with the figures that this report shows."

Reduce

Councillor Ian Cooper, cabinet member for children's services, said: "The education authority is working with all schools to try to reduce the need for permanent exclusions and this proactive approach has already seen a much lower rate of permanent exclusions in the current academic year, to a level which is already less than a half of what it was at the same point last year."

"The level of permanent exclusions from primary schools is below the regional average for the West Midlands."

Data also revealed that six schools have expelled 15 or more pupils with three schools excluding 21 or more. But bosses stated there was an 'enormous variation' between schools.

"The School Standards Report 2015 stated: "The raw numbers of exclusions, at 74 for the year 2013-14, is higher than all other local authorities except Birmingham and Staffordshire. Both are much larger authorities."

"As a proportion of the school population, the rate of permanent exclusion is more than twice as high as most of our closest geographical neighbours. These figure hide an enormous variation between schools. One school has only permanently excluded one student, and another only two, during the last three years six schools have permanently excluded 15 or more during that period, with three schools excluding 21 or more."

Protest over expansion into park

The Friends of Netherton Park protest at the planned site for the expansion of Netherton Park Nursery

CAMPAIGNERS have hit out at plans by a nursery to expand its site onto parkland, saying the site is important for nature conservation.

Netherton Park Nursery School and Kindergarten is proposing to add an extension to its site to accommodate more children after identifying a need in the area.

But the plans have sparked concerns after it emerged the building, off Arch Hill Street, would be constructed on part of Netherton Park.

Members of the Friends of Netherton Park have been distributing leaflets to homes and speaking to residents over the issue.

Group member Vicky Duckworth said: "We have no objections to the new nursery places but there are other areas in Netherton where they could build a new nursery. We do not think they should build this on the park. There are also problems with parking down Arch Hill Street."

But letters have also been sent to Dudley Council's planning department by other residents supporting the nursery's plans.

A decision is yet to be made.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

It's wheely not on to keep up criticism

BLACK Country MP Ian Austin has challenged critics of the giant ferris wheel in Dudley town centre, including Good Morning Britain presenter Piers Morgan, to put their prejudices to one side, and give the DY Eye a try.

A noble sentiment, but I think it might be an idea if Piers decides to sit this one out. Yes the wheel is 135ft tall, and made from some pretty sturdy looking beams, but would you trust it to carry Morgan's weight?

It's big. But not big enough for Morgan's ego!

WHILE I would never take it upon myself to defend Morgan, you can hardly blame the national media for jumping on the Dudley-bashing bandwagon when there are so many people in the town who seem so keen to put the boot in themselves.

It was after all, not the national media, but 21-year-old Dudley student Vincent Parry who branded it the worst tourist attraction in Britain. And it was not the national media which branded Dudley a "shole", but another delightfully articulated son of the town.

What is it with these people?

It was the same when the Art Deco shoe shop at the top of the town was renovated with a small European grant. People were queuing up to say it was not worth bothering to spend any money on Dudley.

Then there is the delightful Caitlin Moran. Now a fully paid-up member of the London metropolitan elite, she never tires of painting the people of Wolverhampton, where she grew up, as a bunch of reactionary Neanderthal layabouts.

Let's be honest, there is plenty to criticise about both Dudley and Wolverhampton, and regular readers of this column will know that I have few reservations about pointing out these shortcomings on a regular basis. But while I might bemoan the dearth of major retailers in Dudley, or local government's belief that block-paving is the panacea for the decline of the high street, I certainly don't criticise anybody for trying.

Why would anybody object to a ferris wheel? Or a shop being renovated?

Yes there is a lot wrong with our towns. But unlike some people, I would actually like to see them get better.

BESIDES, it is worth taking a trip to see the giant wheel if only to marvel at the workmanship that has gone into it. Just look at those huge girders, the massive bearings, stare in awe at how the powerful engines lift people into the sky.

And then weep at how, little more than a generation ago, we used to make all these incredible structures here in the heart of the Black Country. Where now we have leisure parks and out-of-town shopping centres.

Orkambi, drug that transformed Carly's life and may help others

Carly has been undergoing treatment since she was a child

Carly Jeavons meets Chancellor George Osborne in Whitehall

Trial drugs turned Carly's life around

Carly Jeavons says a trial drug has given her back her life, PETER MADELEY hears she wants others to benefit as well

STRUGGLING to breathe and suffering from crippling pains and exhaustion, Carly Jeavons was faced with the daunting possibility of losing her home.

Having being diagnosed with cystic fibrosis (CF) at three days old, she had long been used to an exhausting daily routine of medication and exercise.

As a youngster she had a vasoprost surgically implanted in her chest, which helps medics intravenously administer medication without constant injections, then at the age of 17 she was diagnosed with CF-related diabetes.

Each day, Carly had to take 90 tablets and put herself through a gruelling two-hour stint of physiotherapy just so she could lead anything resembling a 'normal' life.

Deteriorate

But in October 2011 the mother-of-one's health started to deteriorate when she returned to work following the birth of her son, Corey.

"I was completely exhausted all the time and my body couldn't cope," said Carly, from Woodsetton, Dudley. "I started to need more regular, unplanned IVs - which had to take place in hospital as I didn't have the strength to do them myself at home."

"At one point I had to take three months off work due to the numerous IVs, oral antibiotics and steroids I had taken, but nothing made any difference."

Carly says she tried a number of new drugs, all of which had 'terrible side effects'. Then a new IV programme led to an allergic reaction, while she began to suffer with a seemingly permanent chest infection. Her lung function was down to 44 per cent.

"My options were running out," she said.

Carly Jeavons, who has CF, pictured with her son Corey, 5, at home in Woodsetton, Dudley

"The chest infection meant my joints had become so inflamed that I couldn't lift my arms or legs and my mom or fiancée would have to physically get me out of bed and dress me."

"It got to the point where I couldn't make it downstairs at all. I was having stomach blockages, my diabetes was getting more difficult to control and daily activities that were once normal were becoming increasingly difficult."

"I would get up wishing the day away because I couldn't wait to go back to bed at night. I couldn't plan anything because I never knew whether I would feel up to it. And if I did, I had to plan the next few days after so I could recover. Small luxuries such as going for a meal with friends became impossible."

Carly says she reached her lowest ebb. Her mental health began to deteriorate as she realised she was struggling to cope with life.

She started to face up to the very real possibility she was no longer capable of holding down her job.

"That would have meant losing my home," Carly said. "I always managed to maintain a normal life, always worked hard and both my partner and I provided a lovely home and life for our family. But I feared was all about to change."

Just when all seemed lost a glimmer of hope appeared. During a stint as an inpatient at the CF Centre in Dudley, she was told about a new drug called Orkambi that was being put through clinical trials.

The drug - a combination of two treatments - had been developed to thin the thick mucus that builds up on the lungs as a result of CF.

Just five places were available on the trial, but following a test Carly was accepted. "People might think it was a risk getting involved in a trial," said Carly, aged 29. "But I never gave it a second thought. I was desperate. By that stage I would have done anything to feel better."

For the first six months of the trial Carly said she didn't know whether she was on the active drug or a placebo. Then in March 2014 she was rolled onto a second phase of treatment where she was given the active drug. Within weeks her life had been transformed.

Her demanding physio routine halved, her lung function increased and the chronic pain in her joints subsided, meaning she was able to regularly go to work.

The number of chest infections dramatically decreased, while the strength she regained allowed her to administer her IV antibiotics at home. She no longer required regular visits to hospital and was able to exercise again.

"Right now I am in the best health I have ever been in," Carly said. "I can be a working mom without being exhausted, something I would not have thought possible."

Relief

"The biggest relief is I don't worry like I did before. I still get poorly but I recover much better than I used to. The treatment has taken a massive weight off my shoulders."

Buoyed by her own success with Orkambi, Carly now campaigns on behalf of the Cystic Fibrosis Trust calling for the NHS to extend clinical trials.

Her story prompted a House of Commons debate after her cause was taken up by Dudley North MP Ian Austin. Last week she took the fight to Downing Street where she handed in a 15,000-signature petition and received the backing of Chancellor George Osborne.

Carly said: "Cystic fibrosis care has long been about managing decline, instead of fighting the condition at the source. But thanks to new treatments people living with cystic fibrosis will have the opportunity to experience real changes in how they manage their condition."

The Cystic Fibrosis Trust has published an open letter to Vertex Pharmaceuticals, the manufacturer of Orkambi, urging it to work with the NHS towards a solution.

It is estimated that 50 per cent of the 9,000 CF sufferers in the UK could benefit from Orkambi.

Continuity the key to tackling scandal of child exploitation

WHAT with the continued cuts in public services it makes you wonder just how Dudley Council leaders can justify paying an Interim Head of Children's Services a salary of £800 a day. If Merlin Joseph is competent enough to do the job why not offer her the post?

Perhaps it would end the uncertainty and ensure some continuity over a department tackling the scandal of child exploitation on our streets.

For far too long the groomers have had a free run, leaving vulnerable girls isolated with no one to turn to. Shamefully, in the past local authorities, police and other child protection agencies have been reluctant to intervene for fear of racial stereotyping, which could lead to accusations of racism.

DMBC tell us they have a campaign in place to combat this type of exploitation, but it could be too late for many of these young girls.

Nickname really not a matter for MP

IAN Austin's criticism of the Washington American football team using the nickname 'Redskins' is a little silly.

Sports teams through the ages have been given names by fans or club owners. Names may have originated decades ago, when there was no negative inference intended.

While 'Washington Native Americans' may be more acceptable now, it doesn't exactly roll off the tongue.

If Mr Austin feels so strongly, why has he not raised the issue of the Exeter 'Chiefs' rugby side before?

Sports teams' nicknames transcend meaning - they just are!

I think Mr Austin is guilty of talking a load of Northampton Town and should concentrate on being a good MP for Dudley.

Already ample parking space, so cut the fees

DUDLEY Council said that it was severely short of money and would have to make cuts. Then last week they said that they were going to spend several millions on building a multi-storey car park in Tower Street. Between King Street and Duncan Edwards Way there are the acres of the Flood Street car parks, almost the same distance from the town centre as Tower Street, accessible via a foot bridge. To aid access, couldn't the council reduce the parking fees?

Great view from the wheel of our soon to close museum

WHAT a superb view you can get from Dudley's new (second hand?) ferris wheel, the most interesting feature being the soon-to-be-closed museum.

Can't the councillors of Dudley see the irony in promoting a short term vacuous ride over this well run little gem? Is it too difficult to see the town needs sustainable improvements to the leisure and shopping experience not short term 'entertainments'?

Bandwidth bandit fear

THE report of the lady who had been accused of illegally downloading a film (Dudley Chronicle, March 17) has a serious side to it.

Her details were traced from her IP address, therefore it is likely that someone has used her internet connection to download the film, this should not be possible if it has a security code.

However, we had a charge for use at a time when we were not home to use the computer.

BT were unable to explain why to us but our internet had been used by someone, probably to download films, which we never do.

So beware, there are people out there who are clever enough to steal your internet access.

What is fate of our gold?

MANY years ago I voted like many others to join the Common Market. I emphasise the Common Market, not Europe.

Has anyone considered what would happen to Europe should we withdraw?

England and Germany are the two largest contributors to the union. There are far more recipients than contributors. How would the rest of the EU cope with the loss of such funding?

I have one more question - what will happen to the load of gold that was transported from the Bank of England to the Bundesbank, Germany, as reserve for the Common Market. Will that be returned?

Long-time sponsors visit India to meet teenager

A COUPLE from Stourbridge have recently returned from India where they visited a 17-year-old boy they have sponsored for more than seven years through a child development charity.

Peter and Jane Baxter, aged 63 and 59, established a friendship with teenager Samya through letters.

He lives with his parents in a community in East India, where houses are typically constructed with dirt floors, mud walls and wooden roofs.

Most adults in Samya's community are unemployed but some work as day labourers and earn the equivalent of £7 a month.

The couple also sponsor 14-year-old Ingabire from Rwanda, who they have also supported over seven years.

Jane said: "It was a long-awaited experience to meet Samya. We are always thrilled to receive his letters. It was such a joy to meet his friends and family, and see his smiling face.

"It was extremely emotional to actually see him face to face. He has grown into a handsome young man, and told me he considers me and Peter as extended family, almost like godparents.

"We are confident and pleased to know he is part of a very loving extended family, and through the project he will continue to grow and be a role model for younger children."

The couple have sponsored Samya through child development charity Compassion UK, who work with over 1.7 million children around the world.

Peter and Jane's sponsorship of £25 a month, enable Samya to receive nutritious meals, medical care and an education.

In India Peter and Jane Baxter meet 17-year-old Samya, who they have sponsored since he was 10

Councillors run up £5m allowances bill

COUNCILLORS in the Black Country and Staffordshire received nearly £5 million in allowances and expenses during the last financial year.

Black Country councils each paid out sums nearing £1m during 2014/15.

In Dudley councillors picked up a total of £842,446 in allowances and expenses. In Wolverhampton the figure was £928,231 and in Sandwell £929,176. Councillors in Walsall received £847,812.

The Taxpayers' Alliance called the findings 'shocking' and called on councillors to 'show restraint'.

Dudley Council's leader Pete Lowe said: "Our allowances are lower than most of our Black Country neighbours and we work hard to ensure we provide value for money for the people of the borough." Sandwell Council leader Darren Cooper, said: "We have made a conscious decision not to increase members' allowances during the six years I have been leader of the council."

Meanwhile, Staffordshire County Council paid out £931,221. Stafford Borough Council's figure was much lower, with its members receiving £317,871.

Dismissed thief kept collecting charity tins

A SHAMELESS drug addict repeatedly stole from a charity by continuing to pick up collection boxes after he was sacked due to theft, a court heard.

Shafakat Hussain also terrified a 17-year-old girl during a burglary.

Hussain was sacked by Sweet4Smiles amid fears he was taking cash intended for the charity, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told. But the 41-year-old continued to pick up its collection boxes and pocketed the cash.

By John Scott

Mr David Bennett, prosecuting, said police found CCTV footage that showed him stealing some of the boxes from the Robin 2 club in Bilston and the Edgbaston offices of Severn Trent Water on September 30 and July 7, respectively.

Then at lunchtime on October 12 a teenaged girl heard an intruder at her family's home in Charlemont Avenue, West Bromwich, where she was alone.

Hid

Mr Bennett continued: "She phoned her mother and then heard footsteps slowly coming upstairs and hid in a cupboard. Not long afterwards the burglar opened the cupboard door and the pair came face to face."

Hussain, who had convictions for 17 previous offences, turned and fled with a £250 camera. The teenager told police: "I was scared witless and never want to be as afraid as that again."

Less than two hours later the camera was sold at a

Cash Converters store in West Bromwich by the defendant's partner, Claire Kierczek, aged 31, from Buffery Road, Netherton. She was arrested the following day at the Sandfield Road, Stone Cross, address where the pair were then living.

Police found Hussain hiding in the attic when they returned 24 hours later.

Mr Jason Patel, defending, said the couple had been together for 14 years but lost their home after falling into debt when Hussain became hooked on cocaine and heroin.

They were staying with friends when the offences were committed but are now each living with their respective parents, the court was told.

Hussain, of Richmond Road, Dudley, admitted theft and burglary. He was jailed for 22 months by Judge James Burbidge QC. Kierczek pleaded guilty to disposing of criminal property, receiving a two-month prison sentence suspended for 18 months and two-month curfew.

Teenagers among 80 revenge porn victims

A TOTAL of 80 people have reported themselves victims of 'revenge porn' to West Midlands Police, including 13 teenagers.

A new law was introduced in England and Wales over sharing sexually explicit images without the subject's consent in April last year.

Of 80 reported cases since the new law was introduced in April last year, 70 of the victims were women.

More than half the total number of complaints involved victims in their 20s, with 13 teenagers also targeted. The oldest victim was in their 60s.

The figures, released following a Freedom of Information request, also revealed only 15 suspects were charged following the 80 complaints. Six others received a caution.

Sarah Green, acting director at the End Violence Against Women Coalition, said the introduction of the law had been an important step forward.

Afternoon tea a royal celebration

West Mids Federation

WEST Midlands Federation of Townswomen's Guild will be hosting several events for all guild members throughout the coming year. The first event will be an afternoon tea to celebrate the 90th birthday of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. This will be held in Wollaston Village Hall on Thursday, May 19.

The annual inter guild general knowledge quiz will be held on Monday, June 6 at Stourbridge Football Club, Amblecote.

Guilds are requested to select teams of four members to take part and may enter more than one team.

All members of the Federation Committee will be attending the National AGM being held in Bournemouth on Tuesday, June 28. There is a "Music Night" to be held on the previous evening which the committee will be attending.

The annual lunch will be held at the Vesuvio restaurant, Victoria Passage, Stourbridge on Monday July 25. All members are invited to attend.

Further details of events for the second half of 2016 will be announced later.

Whale of a time with talk on film director

The Bride of Frankenstein, directed by James Whale

Film director Whale

URSULA McInnes welcomed everyone to the February meeting. The speakers for the evening were from The Well, Wolverhampton's Food Bank, which is situated in a small unit on the Stafford Road but was previously at The Boot Factory, All Saints.

It is run by volunteers and fundraising depends on donations. Families in need are referred by social workers and depending on the size of the family, they are given a food pack to last for three days. Children are able to have a breakfast at school using cereals supplied by Kellogg's. Guild members donated a load of tins and cereals.

The Gardening Group went to Himley Park for a walk and to see the snowdrops.

Craig Denston was the speaker for Social Studies evening and his subject was From Kates Hill to California - The story of James Whale, father of Frankenstein.

James was born in Dudley and when he finished school in 1910, he enrolled at Dudley School of Arts & Crafts studying photography as an evening student. His day job was at Beans Industries making copper fenders. By July 1916 he had enlisted and became a Commissioned Officer losing his Black Country accent in the process.

In September 1917 he was taken prisoner but then after the war he started acting in small parts at the Old Rep. moving to Universal Pictures in Hollywood and directing films on Frankenstein. It was most interesting talk about someone who 'made good' from the Black Country.

Meetings are held at Penn United Community Hall, Penn Road at 7.15pm. New members and visitors are welcome.

Speaker leaves members in a flutter

Clent Gardening Club

cies of butterflies and 600 species of moths to be found in the UK.

The chairman thanked Patrick for an entertaining and informative talk. He reminded members of the next meeting on April 1. Adam Greathead will give a talk on "Duck Ponds - A Garden Divided".

Meetings are held at Clent Village Hall. Visit <https://clentgardeningclub.wordpress.com> or call chairman Martin Grange on 01562 883009.

Get tough call on phone drivers

THE West Midlands Police Commissioner has called for tougher penalties for people caught using their mobile phones while driving.

David Jamieson said he wants to see increased fines and more penalty points for drivers who flout the law, as well as an extension to cover other electronic devices.

It comes as a Government consultation on increasing the penalties given to drivers who break the current laws came to an end.

Mr Jamieson said: "Thirteen years ago I was the minister that brought the ban in on the use of mobile phones while driving because it was a hazard to people on the roads."

"I want to see the Government act now, and I'm calling upon them to increase the fine and the penalty points and extend the ban to other electronic devices."

West Midlands Police caught nearly 2,500 people using mobile phones while driving in 2014.

£45k signal crossing aims to boost safety for schoolchildren

A £45,000 pedestrian crossing will be installed at a Netherton traffic trouble spot after residents expressed concerns for children's safety due to the speed and volume of vehicles.

The signalised 'puffin' crossing will be installed on the junction of Swan Street not far from Hillcrest School and Community College.

Bosses said that the children had been the 'driving force' behind the campaign to install a safer way for them to cross the traffic-heavy road that runs from the busy Cinder Bank island.

Councillor Hilary Bills, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "Our main concern was for the children crossing the road coming back and forth from school."

"We tried looking around at lots of different places around the junction to make it safe and fit in with regulations."

"Our three ward councillors have worked together very well in this instance."

"It is a very busy road and so to be able to ensure that the children were safe when crossing was our main driving force. The great thing is that it will make the road a lot safer."

The crossing will cost around £45,000 to install with costs coming from the Safer Route to School scheme.

The crossing will see a loss of two on-street parking spaces as part of the installation.

Full backing from Hillcrest School was given during a consultation period that ran from March to April last year.

A single written objection was received on the grounds of the removal of on-street parking and also the crossing's proximity to the Swan Street junction.

The zigzag markings on southern side of crossing will be amended and a solid area of white thermoplastic will be laid to define the end of the right turn lane.

A council decision report stated: "It is acknowledged that the removal of parking spaces will not be popular with the business but at a further meeting on February 29 the majority of ward members agreed that community road safety should be the priority."

Sedgley is a Fairtrade town

SEDGLEY has been named a Fairtrade town for the next two years after helping raise awareness of the plight of farmers in developing countries.

The town renewed its status after officials said it had worked on a number of initiatives over the past 12 months.

International body The Fairtrade Foundation says the town has worked to promote a fair price being paid to farmers for the food they produce.

The town's Fairtrade Steering Group revealed its plans to promote Fairtrade to more churches, schools and community groups in the area.

During the recent Fairtrade Fortnight several events were held including a coffee morning at the Co-op supermarket.

Group members meet at the Co-op coffee bar at 3.30pm with the next meeting on May 18.

Woman cut free after car crash

The aftermath of the smash which left three people injured and in need of hospital treatment

THREE people have been hurt, including a woman who had to be cut free from her vehicle, in a four-car smash in Gornal Wood. Two of the vehicles overturned in the collision.

Fire crews received a call to Tansey Green Road at around 6pm on Sunday evening after the crash left two cars on their sides and two others with extensive damage.

Chris Kowalik, a West Midlands Ambulance Service spokesman, said: "A woman passenger in one of the cars had a broken arm. She was trapped and, with the help of the fire service, was freed through the vehicle's front windscreen. She was immobilised and taken to Russells Hall Hospital."

A 74-year-old driver, called Alan Onslow, in one of the cars involved, was also taken to Dudley's Russells Hall Hospital where he was believed to be treated for shock.

25,000 jobs plan for Black Country

PLANS have been unveiled to turn the Black Country into the UK's High Value Manufacturing City, adding £1 billion to the local economy and creating more than 25,000 jobs.

The scheme is targeting 370 acres of land for new factories and businesses.

To pull in the investment needed, the plan was being launched on the internet at the MIPIM international property conference held in the South of France. The online platform is described as 'innovative and interactive'.

Delegates from the Black Country's Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) – the joint body of civic and business leaders – launched the platform at MIPIM, one of the world's biggest business events for developers and investors. Tom Westley, of the Black Country LEP, said: "The Black Country has the potential to generate massive opportunities in investment."

FOCUS ON DUDLEY TOWN CENTRE

Bumper turnout anticipated for town trail milestone

DUDLEY Zoo's historically significant Tecton buildings were put under the spotlight during a visit by members of Twentieth Century Society.

Twenty-five visitors were welcomed by architect Larry Priest to learn about the Heritage Lottery funded project to repair four of the Modernist structures, which had a major influence on 20th century architecture.

The group took part in a walk and talk around the 40-acre site to visit the 12 Tectons while construction supervisor, Carlo Diponio explained about the ongoing repair work.

The landmark wave entrance and Bear Ravine have also been restored along with the Safari Shop which was renovated to provide a new entrance to the zoo offering access from an extended car park.

Lenny's radio role has sting

DUDLEY'S most famous son, actor and comedian Sir Lenny Henry, is to star in a new monologue show on BBC Radio 4.

Lenny will have a role in Rogues Gallery, described as 'darkly comic, genre-bending monologues'.

Four 15-minute episodes are due to air in May.

A BBC spokesman said: "Every episode will feature a new character telling their tale, each of which have a sting in their tail."

THE countdown to this year's Dudley Trail has started as walkers are being urged to put their best foot forward in May by signing up to one of the longest-running events in the borough.

This year will mark the 36th anniversary of this annual event and organisers are hoping to attract more people, of all ages, than ever before.

By David Banner

The Dudley trail takes place on Sunday, May 1, and walks of six, nine, 12, 20 and 28 miles are on offer with routes covering the hidden beauty and proud industrial heritage of the borough.

The event offers participants a choice of challenges from a six-mile gentle walk stroll to a 28-mile trek for more seasoned walkers.

The event is being organised in association with Action Heart and is supported by Let's Get Active and sponsors K2 Security.

Online registration is now available on the Dudley Council website at www.dudley.gov.uk/dudleytrail

Councillor Kurshid Ahmed, cabinet member for visitor economy and cultural services, said: "This event always proves to be very popular in the borough's calendar. It provides a great way for people of all abilities to get involved and enjoy the sights of the borough, as well as providing an opportunity to make new friends and exercise. It also offers walkers for more seasoned walkers, designed to challenge their stamina."

All walks start from Dudley Leisure Centre at Wellington Road in the town centre, times varying between 8am and noon.

Checkpoints are placed along each of the five routes to ensure the wellbeing of walkers, and light refreshments are available. Everyone who completes a trail receives a certificate.

Pre-booking costs £3 per person for the 28 and 20-mile routes, £2.50 for the 12 and nine-mile and £1.50 to walk the six-mile route. An additional 50p will be charged for all entries on the day. Entry forms are also available to download at the website.

MP says the critics are 'snobs'

DUDLEY North MP Ian Austin has told critics of the town's ferris wheel attraction to stop sniping and come and see it from themselves.

The attraction, which is in the town for a month, became a national talking point last week when figures including Piers Morgan talked it down.

The Sun newspaper also waded in to mock the wheel, branding it 'Dudley Eye'.

The DY Eye was described as the 'worst tourist attraction in Britain' while the outspoken Morgan said he could think of 'no grimmer panorama than Dudley'.

Now Labour MP Mr Austin has leapt to the defence of the wheel in Dudley. He said: "I'm inviting the snobs in the national media to come to Dudley and take a trip with me on the wheel."

Wake up the zoo animals

Music venue closes down

A TRENDY music venue in Birmingham is closing after it announced 'overheads under tough conditions'.

Alfie Bird and The Oobleck in Digbeth, Birmingham, last week confirmed it will close with immediate effect.

A statement, written by management on their Facebook page, said: "It is with a heavy heart that we at Alfie Bird & The Oobleck need to admit defeat in our ongoing challenge to get a live music venue within The Custard Factory to work for the long term and as of immediately the venue will be closed permanently.

"It's been a long two years of struggling with our overheads under tough conditions, and has come to the point of no return."

Temple expansion for festival chariot building gets go-ahead

EXPANSION plans for a temple in the Black Country have been approved by council planners.

Proposals for the 21-acre Balaji Temple complex in Tividale will see a 15-metre tall building constructed to house a festival chariot and the laying out of a processional route around the site off Dudley Road East.

John Baker, development and regulatory services manager at Sandwell Council, said: "This is an interesting application. There have been extensive legal advisories and discussions but the proposed changes do not compromise the proposed right of way across the site."

The temple has grown in the past 15 years to become the largest Hindu temple of its kind in Europe. Temple trustee Dr Venkataramana Rao said the scheme would ensure the temple was better equipped to host some of the key festivals.

Dr Rao said: "At the moment we can't keep the chariot anywhere outside because it's made of wood, that's why we need to build this new building. It's part and parcel of the Hindu community."

Plans were approved subject to the proposed finished floor levels of the processional route being submitted to and agreed by Sandwell Council. The decision was made at the council's planning committee last week.

Designed with a vaulted roof, the community hall already provides space for functions including weddings.

Facilities include a stage with lighting, private rooms, kitchen and toilets. A play area is also available for children. Summer and winter camps are run from the temple for youngsters and during the school holidays.

New presses boost orders

Russell Hartill (right) of Worcester Presses with Moseley Brothers MD John Hickman

TAPPING into the expertise and capabilities of a specialist press supplier has helped a Dudley manufacturer secure a string of new automotive orders.

Moseley Brothers, a leading press tooling and production specialist, has invested more than £500,000 into the purchase of two large Chin Fong presses that will help it increase its capacity, speed and ability for more complex components. The company purchased the machines from Stourbridge-based Worcester Presses.

They are already producing various pressed components for several leading car manufacturers and it is anticipated that more than £1m of orders can be fulfilled every year on the 500 and 400 tonne presses.

John Hickman, managing director of Moseley Brothers, said: "We moved to our new site in Dudley last year, as part of a £2.5m investment and recognised the need to update our press capability.

"Our relationship with Worcester goes back more than a decade, so we invited their technical team in to discuss our requirements and then present the best possible solution to meet those needs.

He continued: "The answer was two state-of-the-art Chin Fong presses. This has already reaped dividends with new contracts secured to supply larger automotive components. With our pipeline of presswork orders set to grow by 20 per cent in the next 12 months, the increased speed and capacity we now boast is essential."

The Moseley Brothers investment has contributed to a record year for Worcester Presses, with turnover doubling to £2.8m in just twelve months.

Libby's haircut has raised £600 for trust

AN eight-year-old girl from Pensnett has raised more than £600 for charity after having her long locks cut off.

Libby Toghill raised the money for the Little Princess Trust after cutting off 14 inches of hair on March 3. The money will go to helping children affected with hair loss, including cancer patients and youngsters suffering with alopecia.

Proud mother Jessica Toghill said: "Me and Paul (Libby's dad) are so proud of Libby, she has decided to do this off her own back to help little girls who have lost their hair due to illness. Libby said to me 'mine will grow back mum.'"

"I would like to thank everyone who has sponsored Libby so far."

Visit www.justgiving.com/Libbys-princess-wigs to donate to Libby's fundraising. The trust helps children with hair loss including giving them wigs. For more information visit www.littleprincesses.org.uk/about-us or call 01432 363505.

Next of kin are found

THE next of kin of a woman who died while staying at a hotel in Shrewsbury have been traced.

Louise Elizabeth Smyth, 34, died while she was a guest at the Shrewsbury Hotel in Bridge Street on March 3. Police say the cause of death is yet to be determined and are awaiting post-mortem results. It is not believed that her death was suspicious.

Miss Smyth was originally from the West Midlands area and had links to Dudley.

UKIP MEP supports mosque unity event

POLITICIANS, police and religious leaders in the Black Country are joining forces to tackle the threat of radicalisation.

Around 50 people from different faiths and backgrounds met at Baitul Afta Mosque, Wolverhampton, with UKIP West Midlands Euro MP Bill Etheridge, Wolverhampton South West Labour MP Rob Marris and representatives of West Midlands Police.

The United Against Extremism event, organised by The Ahmadiyya Muslim Association Wolverhampton, was held to launch a campaign to distribute half a million leaflets informing people of how best to deal with radicalisation and fundamentalism.

Safeguard

Mr Etheridge said: "To safeguard our communities we need to work together as a unit, irrespective of faith, political parties, colour or creed.

"Terrorists have no faith, no religion or sympathy. They will kill anyone. This has to stop.

"These are dangerous times, where people of peace and of decent values have to pull together. It is not useful or helpful to label people as 'the other'.

"I've travelled across the European continent regularly with my job and it's like a war zone, there are soldiers everywhere you look. People are on edge, people are distrusting, people are worried. The world is changing. We have to unite in peace and harmony with each other, with the people who contribute to this country, civilised decent people.

"UKIP are not against immigration, we are about controlling the numbers."

Reverend John Bennett and Mr Marris also spoke at the event.

The mosque is keen to make people aware that the fundamentalist views held by terrorists are in the minority, with most Muslims part of a moderate community of acceptance and tolerance.

Toby Ephram, outreach coordinator and president of pan-African Ahmadiyya Muslim Association Midlands, said: "These terrorists are not interested in what religion you are, what culture you are from, they are just interested in causing destruction. It is time to unite.

Muhammad Ashraf, regional president of Ahmadiyya Muslim Association in Wolverhampton, hoped the 'Islam's response to extremism' leaflets would help understanding.

Drink-driving car valet is locked up over weapons find

A COURT heard that a terrified neighbour called police after spotting a man with a gun in a Dudley street.

The anonymous caller also gave details of a Ford Focus that was traced to 35-year-old Banaris Ali, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told. When police swooped on his bedsit in a multi-occupied address in Fir Street, Kates Hill, he was not at home but they found a stun gun disguised as a mobile phone and a small amount of cannabis, said Mr Timothy Sapwell, prosecuting.

The Ford Focus drove past the property at high speed but was caught by police. They discovered a gas operated BB gun that looked like a semi-automatic pistol. Car valet Ali – who also failed a drink-drive test – said he had been outside the address with the BB gun to 'move on' strangers who had been sitting outside in a van. He said they had given him 'bad feelings'. Mr Sapwell said: "He confessed that he would have threatened them with the weapon if they had not left."

Ali said he found the stun gun in the street and initially thought it was a mobile phone. After discovering it was a Taser he decided to keep it for his own protection, being unaware this was illegal.

Mr Richard Partridge, defending, said: "This is not a man of violence. He was just foolish. There had been a number of break-ins at the flats and perhaps this was the reason for the paranoia. He did not have a charger for the Taser."

Ali admitted possession of a disguised weapon and imitation firearm, and drink-driving. He was jailed for two years and nine months.

MP concern at too many zero hour contracts

NEARLY 70,000 people are on 'zero hours' contracts across the West Midlands, new figures from the Office for National Statistics (ONS) reveal.

A total of 69,000 workers in the region were not guaranteed minimum hours in their job. The total represents 2.6 per cent of the region's workforce.

Across the country, 801,000 people were employed on the controversial contracts.

The figures were as of December last year – an increase of 2.3 per cent on the same period in 2014. The national figure represents 2.5 per cent of the UK's entire workforce, according to the study.

Zero-hours contracts, or casual contracts, allow employers to hire staff with no guarantee of work.

They have proved highly controversial – with concerns they do not offer financial stability and security.

Confidence

Dudley North MP Ian Austin said: "Too many local people on zero-hours contracts have told me they don't know how many hours they'll get to work from one day to the next and some find job security is non-existent.

"These 'no promises' contracts are another sign that working people aren't feeling a recovery and businesses still don't have the confidence to take people on permanently.

The Labour MP continued: "Much more action is needed to ban zero-hours exploitation, with an end to zero-hours workers being forced to make themselves available even when there's no work for them."

By Rob Cox

People on zero-hours contracts were more likely to be young, in part-time work, women, or in full-time education when compared with other people in employment.

The figures also showed, on average, someone on a zero-hours contract usually worked 26 hours a week.

Around one in three on a zero-hours contract wanted more hours. In comparison, 10 per cent of other people in employment wanted more hours.

Nick Palmer, a statistician for the ONS, said: "This latest figure is rather higher than the 69,000 people who said they were on these contracts in late 2014.

"Though at least some of this increase may be due to greater public recognition of the term 'zero-hours contract', there's also nothing to suggest this form of employment is in decline."

Dudley group expand

THE Black Country arm of a US manufacturing group has swooped to buy a Staffordshire welding company.

The price tag has not been revealed but it gives the UK arm of Manufacturing Technology a combined turnover in excess of £11 million and a workforce of 85. Based in Kingswinford, the group includes MTI Welding and British Federal. It's latest acquisition is Prospot in Tamworth.

PizzaExpress is celebrating the launch of its exciting new-look restaurant in Stourbridge by offering 10 fabulous prizes of a meal for two to the value of £40.

Located in a distinctive listed building in the heart of Stourbridge, the restaurant has been totally transformed and includes new artwork reflecting the building's former use as an upmarket tea room.

Each PizzaExpress restaurant is individually designed – often using well-known places, people or historical events from the area as the basis. During the 1960s, the Stourbridge building was known as Cranage's Tea Rooms and Royal Turf Lounge Bar.

Drawing inspiration from this, the artwork shows cakes, bread and other items sold at there. Today, though, it is tasty pizzas as well as delightful desserts on the menu.

Manager, Louise Kitson, said, "We love our restaurant's new look and have a friendly and enthusiastic team who are looking forward to welcoming everyone over a delicious pizza."

PizzaExpress has been dishing up fresh, handmade pizza to Stourbridge since 1999. Mary Poppins is practically perfect

REVIEW

by Leon Burakowski

Mary Poppins
Birmingham Hippodrome
THERE is only one word to describe this show, and it's a long one – supercalifragilisticexpialidocious!

The Disney organisation and theatre impresario Cameron Mackintosh have joined forces to bring the magical nanny to the stage in a spit-spot spectacular that will surely satisfy fans of the classic family movie musical.

This revival of the revamp penned by Downton Abbey writer Julian Fellowes and directed by Richard Eyre has lots of West End class with its well-drilled performers, impressive sets and stunning special effects.

A lot rests on the shoulders of young actress Zizi Strallen as the enchanted childminder, and Bonnie Langford's niece is practically perfect in every way for the role.

Dancer

She is a superb dancer, having been a member of Matthew Bourne's company (Bourne co-directs and choreographs this production) and also has an impressive voice in a show with several powerful female singers.

But what she has even more of is charisma, conveying with flashing eyes, pristine posture and her forthright no-nonsense dialogue the essence of PL Travers' super-nanny. Her performance is informed by Julie Andrews but Miss Strallen brings something new to the role – more magical mystery and youthful energy.

She has a fine partner in Australian song and dance man Matt Lee (a Frank Skinner lookalike). His gravity-defying stunts, irrepressible energy and fine singing make for a memorable Bert, as he sweeps Poppins off her feet and onto the rooftops of London.

The show is largely loyal to the film but the movie's animated sequences are replaced with new scenes. These include an incredibly colourful park routine, which seems to co-opt Wonderland and Narnia, a creepy scene where the Banks' children's ill-treated toys come to life and a delirious number involving Caribbean word-seller Mrs Corry (Wreh-Asha Walton).

New songs from George Stiles and Anthony Drewe fit in well with the Sherman brothers' originals.

A team of youngsters will be taking turns as Jane and Michael Banks, with Georgie Hill and Jabez Cheeseman in sparky form as the mischievous youngsters on Press Night.

Just like Mary Poppins and her magic umbrella, this show is a soar-away success, so get a ticket quick before the wind changes direction. The show continues in Birmingham until April 23.

Warning over Brexit threat to town's £28m rail system

PLANS for a £28 million light rail system to take train passengers into Dudley for the first time in 50 years could be thrown into doubt if Britain leaves the European Union, says a transport boss.

A light rail innovation centre has been earmarked for the town to transport visitors from Dudley Port station, near Tipton, to the former station at the bottom of Castle Hill.

But it has been claimed that funding for the scheme could come under threat should Brexit camp prevail in the June 23 EU referendum.

It comes after concerns were raised over the EU impact on the future of the region's rail and tram networks post-Brexit, with plans to extend the Midland Metro reliant on tranches of funding from Europe.

Roger Lawrence, chairman of the West Midlands Integrated Transport

Authority (ITA), said leaving the EU would be 'unlikely' to affect current plans for the Metro – but it could 'cut off' funding for projects in the fields of innovation, including the Dudley line.

"In the past a lot of EU money has gone towards infrastructure and we have seen those benefits across the region," he said.

"Now more of the focus is centred around innovation, employment skills and training. The very light rapid transit scheme in Dudley is one that might come under threat or be slowed down should EU funding no longer be available."

Around £4.5m of the project's funding has been offered through the Local Growth Fund, with £9.4m from third party private sector investors and £13.9m from the European Regional Development Fund.

Awareness of abuse risk for youngsters

AN AWARENESS drive has been carried out across Dudley to highlight the dangers of child sexual exploitation.

Dudley Council officials have worked with groups from across the borough's voluntary sector this week on an awareness roadshow.

The Mayor of Dudley, Councillor Steve Waltho, joined the roadshow in Dudley's market place to promote the 'see me, hear me' campaign.

The campaign highlights the issue and its long-term impact on young people.

The promotional stand has already been in Stourbridge, Brierley Hill, Sedgley and Halesowen.

Councillor Waltho said: "It's an horrendous crime and one which clearly needs to be highlighted.

"It's a real credit to Dudley that agencies across the borough are working so closely together to make sure the message gets out there."

Find out more on the campaign by visiting www.seeme-hearme.org.uk or speak to Dudley's CSE team on 01384 817777 or Barnardo's on 0121 3595333.

Death of a former E&S manager, aged 74

A FORMER circulation manager at the Express & Star, who worked on the newspaper for nearly half a century, has died at the age of 74.

Bryan Taylor had first joined the paper at just 15 and went on to become the operations manager for the circulation department at the Express & Star's Queen Street headquarters in Wolverhampton.

After living in Pensnett after they were first married, Bryan and his wife Christine moved to Wall Heath and lived in the same house for 44 years, raising their two daughters Joy and Imogen.

By the 1990s Bryan was running the sales and canvassing across the newspaper's circulation area, organising deliveries to more than 1,800 newsagents through a fleet of 70 vans.

Golf

He took early retirement in 2003 but even then frequently returned to help out when his old department was under pressure.

Daughter Joy Duffy said: "I think he must have done more than half century in the end; he absolutely loved the paper."

"He had been helping out his brother Ernie, who already worked at the Express & Star, for a while before the paper offered him a job back in 1956. And I think he was popping back in to help out for two or three years after he formally retired."

"The Express & Star was one of the three faces of Dad's life. Another was golf, which remained a passion after he retired. He was a member of the Star's golf society, as well as Swindon Golf Club, and he loved the social side of the game."

Mr Taylor seen at his desk

"The third side was swimming. Although he didn't really swim himself Dad was an ASA qualified judge and starter and coached myself and Imogen during our time as competitive swimmers."

"My parents signed me up for an Express & Star scheme to learn to swim in two weeks, but it turned out I really could swim almost immediately. Dad decided I had a talent and started coaching me, and later Imogen as well."

Bryan leaves his wife, two daughters, and five grandchildren: Aidan, aged 17; Ryan, 14; Amba, 10; Theo, eight; and five-year-old April.

The funeral service takes place today (Thursday) at Gornal Crematorium at 12.20pm, followed by a reception at the Dudley Arms.

Hollywood glamour

A FASHION expert from Dudley whose modelling career included hosting parties for Hollywood stars like George Clooney, will transform a Birmingham shopping centre into a giant catwalk.

Top models will be showcasing the latest trends and styles at Fashion on the Move, a series of free fashion and dance shows at Northfield Shopping Centre.

The event on April 2 from 11am is being hosted by former Bridgnorth Endowed School pupil Sally Mansell, whose international modelling career began in Birmingham.

She has since worked alongside Hollywood A-listers such as George Clooney and Mark Wahlberg, modelled for London designer Caroline Charles, launched cars with Aston Martin and helped tennis star Annabel Croft raise money in memory of Princess Diana.

Another record as airport figures soar

BIRMINGHAM Airport has celebrated another record month with February passenger figures up 9.4 per cent on the year.

It was the 12th month in a row of record numbers of people flying to and from the airport. A total of 690,347 passengers travelled through the airport last month, up 59,000 on the same month in 2015.

Long-haul destinations are continuing to prove popular with growth up by more than 19 per cent compared to February last year. Short-haul were up 7.9 per cent.

Chief executive Paul Kehoe said: "A whole year of outstanding passenger figures is something that will go down in the airport's history. The next few weeks will see a rapid expansion to the selection of airlines flying from Birmingham as we introduce Qatar, CSA, Iberia and Blue Air as well as the magnificent Emirates Airbus A380 aircraft."

Artist, athlete and former detective inspector John Edwards, of Brierley Hill, with his wife Rumana

Policeman turned artist has died at the age of 83

AN EX-POLICEMAN turned globe-trotting artist who met his wife while on travels in Bangladesh has died aged 83.

John Edwards served in the force for 25 years and also an accomplished artist.

His wife Rumana, 42, has paid tribute to him, providing an insight into his eventful life.

John, or Jedd as he was known, was born in Brierley Hill in 1932. Before carving out a successful career in the police, he had attended art college in the town and worked for advertising agency Murray Watson.

He did National Service in the RAF and then joined the police force aged 21.

He soon became known as a talented athlete who took part in force running competitions.

After 25 years service, and having risen to the rank of detective inspector, Mr Edwards retired to pursue his second career as an artist. But he continued producing amusing cartoons for the police magazine until 2006 when the final issue was published. "He understood what makes the police laugh at themselves" which was depicted in the McBoot cartoons," said Rumana.

The couple, who lived in Malvern, have a daughter Zara, aged 22.

Pervert had over 5,000 porn images of children

THE sickening child porn shame of a sexually depraved Stourbridge man has been revealed after a court heard how he downloaded more than 5,000 indecent films and pictures of children – including babies.

Brett Clewes also took indecent photographs of two women and took another up the skirt of a young girl in Stourbridge town centre.

Clewes, a man of previous good character, of Finchfield Close, Stourbridge, was described as being a 'socially inept' man with few friends.

Recorder Abigail Nixon told the 43-year-old: "Without sexually depraved people like you there would be no demand for these indecent images."

Risk

"Women of all ages are at risk from your perverted needs."

At Wolverhampton Crown Court, Clewes admitted seven charges of making indecent images of children and one of taking an indecent photograph of a child.

He further admitted recording a person in a private act and four charges of possessing indecent photographs.

Christopher O'Gorman, prosecuting, said that intelligence was received by police about Clewes using a website based in Russia, which was used by people with a sexual interest in children.

People using the site were making comments about their shared interest in paedophilia.

When officers went to Clewes' home they seized his computer equipment, which was found to contain the indecent images.

Defence barrister Nicholas Berry told the court that Clewes, who was also made the subject of a Sexual Harm Prevention Order until further notice, had already taken major steps to resolve his problems.

Mr Berry said: "He has demonstrated since his arrest conduct to address his offending behaviour."

"From the early stages he recognised he has a serious problem."

Mr Berry told Wolverhampton Crown Court that Clewes had become socially introverted.

He said: "Computers and temptation followed and they came to dominate him."

"It was then his perverted interest surfaced."

Clewes was jailed for 30 months and was also placed on the sex offenders list.

Also 98 per cent were satisfied with the comfort they experienced on the bus, 96 per cent said they were happy with the standard of driving and 81 per cent found the services good value for money.

Made in Britain bus fleet to get more environment friendly

NATIONAL Express is buying more environmentally-friendly buses to cover every part of the Black Country.

The public transport company, which runs bus services and operates the Midland Metro in the West Midlands, is expanding its fleet of high-tech grey-painted Platinum buses following their successful introduction in May last year.

National Express is spending £15 million to buy 65 more this year with the first expected to be on the road in the summer.

Qemists stick to alternative formula

Hardcore electro-rockers Qemists are visiting Wolverhampton Slade Rooms tonight with Japan's Crossfaith

BRIGHTON rocks – and the latest band from the city by the sea, that's become a hotbed of punk, electro and other alternative sounds, is electro-rock quintet The Qemists.

Storming first single Run You, from new album Warrior Sound, featured on the trailer for Arnold Schwarzenegger movie Terminator Genisys and ITV's coverage of the Rugby World Cup.

Bruno Balanta, one half of the band's vocal output, says: "We're Rage Against The Machine meets The Prodigy meets Public Enemy. The music encompasses our rock influences, urban ethics and the heavy dance-infused electronica we love."

The band that have toured with Korn and Enter Shikari are not about to embrace the mainstream.

"Are we going to end up going all commercial and making really poppy sounding tracks? No, that's never going to happen because we're fans first and foremost of the type of music we're making. Why give up what you care about for cash?"

"For the last 16 months we've been pouring blood, sweat, and tears into our new album and I'm buzzing to unleash this record on the world live."

Tonight (Thursday) they are at Wolverhampton's Slade Rooms with Japanese electro-metal icons Crossfaith.

Adele says Hello Brum

SHE'S the hottest ticket in town, in fact, Adele is the hottest ticket in any town... and she's coming to Birmingham Genting Arena for four nights of concerts.

The Brit School graduate from Tottenham is the great British music success story of the early 21st century.

In just six years since her debut album 19 in 2008, followed by 21 in 2011 and 25 last year, Adele Adkins has become a genuine superstar on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean.

She won an Oscar for her Bond song Skyfall in 2013 and the same year went to Buckingham Palace to receive the MBE from Prince Charles.

Awards

She has won multiple record industry awards, including Grammys, Ivor Novello and Brits.

Her emotional performance of Someone Like You at the 2011 Brit Awards was credited with propelling her to stardom. That took the song to number one as she became the first artist in the UK since The Beatles to have two top five singles and two top five albums at the same time.

Her concerts on Tuesday and Wednesday, then again on the following Friday and Saturday, are all sold out.

The Birmingham dates mark the end of the British leg of her first tour in four years, since she gave birth to son Angelo, and she will be touring Europe during May and June.

Village jazz club back at new venue

ONE of the West Midlands' favourite jazz clubs is back at a new venue.

Jazz Club 90, in the Shropshire village of Albrighton, near Wolverhampton, built up a loyal following among musicians and jazz fans over 25 years at The Harp pub. New owners meant a move for the organisers, who have found a new venue at Albrighton Sports and Social Club.

It launched last year with a 25th anniversary gig in October and is running twice a month sessions for the jazz-starved denizens of the Wolverhampton and Telford area. Sunday sessions are from 1pm to 3pm, and admission is £5. For more information see www.jazzclub90.co.uk

It's a Grand choice for one-night shows

IT'S a busy week of one-nighters ahead at the Grand Theatre in Wolverhampton.

Indian Punjabi singer, poet and actor Satinder Sartaaj will be in concert tomorrow evening (Friday) with ticket prices ranging from £25 to £100 for the Sufi superstar's performance.

Roll up and maybe throw up when the Circus of Horrors bring their 21st anniversary tour to the Lichfield Street venue on Saturday night.

A Grand Operetta Gala featuring music by Gilbert and Sullivan is on Wednesday. Irish song and dance show Ireland's Call is on Thursday, March 31. Call 01902 429212.

Play for those who miss a Heartbeat

HEARTBEAT, the popular ITV show about police in 1960s rural Yorkshire, is being revived on stage in Birmingham.

The popular Sunday night series with its nostalgic soundtrack ran for 18 years from 1992, based on the Constable books by ex-policeman Peter Walker under pen-name Nicholas Rhea. It originally starred Nick Berry as Pc Nick Rowan.

David Lonsdale will return in his TV role of David Stockwell, as will Steve Blakeley as Pc Geoff Younger, joined by Hollywood actor Matt Millburn as Pc Joe Malton. It is staged at the New Alexandra Theatre from Monday to Saturday, April 2.

Zoe Ball and Ashley Banjo

Can't Touch This (BBC1, 6.10pm)
New series. Zoe Ball and Ashley Banjo present the game show in which 16 contestants are challenged to battle their way through a giant obstacle course filled with prizes that are just out of reach. If the competitors are able to lay hands on any of the goodies within, they can take them home, including a grand prize that requires a giant leap of faith to claim. The contest gets under way as a father from Cardiff, a belly-dancer from Hull and a man called 'Mr Grumpy Pants' tackle the course. Narrated by Sue Perkins.

A chilling new comedy series is on the horizon

Cast your mind back to New Year 2014, and the one-off comedy Two Doors Down, which was set at a disastrous Hogmanay party.

Well, it was disastrous for hosts Eric (Alex Norton) and Beth (Arabella Weir), who had to entertain their eccentric neighbours – viewers and critics had a whale of a time, which is why Two Doors Down is now back for a new six-part series.

Writers Gregor Sharp and Simon Carlyle are certainly excited about the show making the transition from radio series and festive special to fully fledged TV sitcom, especially as it's given them a chance to create some new neighbours to annoy Eric and Beth.

One of the new recruits is played by Rab C Nesbitt's Elaine C Smith, who Simon describes as a 'legend'. Elaine is equally complimentary about the writers, saying: "Two Doors Down is a fresh voice in comedy and, whether I was in it or not, I'd watch it. It had a bit of Abigail's Party about it which I loved.

"My husband saw the pilot and raved about it. I said to my agent 'if anything comes up for Two Doors Down, count me in' thinking it would be a bit part in one of the episodes, so when they came back with Christine I was thrilled. I had been waiting for a role like this for a very long time after Rab C Nesbitt."

Hypochondriac Christine has certainly given the actress plenty to get her teeth into, Elaine says:

"Christine is a single parent who lives with her teenage daughter, Sophie [Sharon Rooney], Christine's very like a man, which makes her liberating to play – she's had to be both parents to Sophie and has the freedom that males in comedy usually have – to be outrageous. She has some of the best lines I've ever had the joy to act."

And it seems there were plenty of good lines left over for her female co-stars, Arabella, Sharon and Doon Mackichan, who plays Cathy.

Elaine says: "Arabella had been in The Fast Show, I'd been in Naked Video and Doon in Smaak the Pony so we've all come up through similar routes through sketch shows. Invariably, if you're a woman in a sketch show, you're on your own. Our role in the past was to feed the men in our shows the best lines.

"The day we all filmed a scene in a garden in Bishopton stands out to me as it was the four female leads and a female crew. I thought I was in a parallel universe! Women being allowed to be funny? It was just joyous."

The men will also be getting in on the action in this opening episode, as Eric accidentally leaves the freezer door open, so Beth decides to throw a party to use the up the food before it goes to waste.

Everything seems to be going well, until Cathy decides it would be a nice idea for Colin (Jonathan Watson) to restock his next-door neighbours' freezer with a whole Scottish salmon.

Doon Mackichan stars in Two Doors Down, Friday, BBC2, 10pm

MONDAY

Eddie Izzard: Marathon Man for Sport Relief BBC2, 9.40pm

In 2009, comedian Eddie Izzard completed 43 marathons in 51 days across the UK, eventually raising over £1.8million. Then, in 2012, he planned to complete a staggering 27 marathons in 27 days across South Africa to reflect the 27 years that Nelson Mandela spent in prison. Sadly, he had to pull out for health reasons. Undeterred, Izzard returned to complete the challenge this year for Sport Relief, running over 700 miles in temperatures of up to 30 degrees celsius. This documentary covers Eddie's journey, in which he also explored the history of South Africa and Mandela as well as visiting communities, organisations and families that have all been helped by the work of Comic Relief.

TUESDAY

Live International Football ITV, 7.30pm

England v Netherlands. Mark Pougatch presents the best of the action from the friendly match at Wembley Stadium, as Roy Hodgson's side continued their preparations for Euro 2016. Surprisingly, the Dutch will not be involved in this summer's tournament in France, having finished a very disappointing fourth in their qualification group, below Czech Republic, Iceland and Turkey, which was not even enough to merit a play-off place.

Bake Off: Creme de la Creme BBC2, 8pm

We've had junior and celebrity versions of The Great British Bake Off, and now it's time for another spin-off – and this one is giving the professionals a chance to show what they can do. Presented by Michelin-starred chef Tom Kerridge, it sets out to find Britain's best team of pastry chefs, whether they come from top hotels or the armed forces. They'll all be making stunning patisserie and desserts in the hopes of impressing the judges Benoit Blin, chef patissier at Belmond Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons, Claire Clark MBE, world-renowned pastry chef and consultant, and Cherish Finden, executive pastry chef at The Langham, London. In the first edition, three teams have to make over 100 perfect miniature pastries, before reinventing the humble apple crumble as a five-star dessert.

Bake Off: Creme de la Creme, Tuesday, BBC2, 8pm

WEDNESDAY

Horizon BBC2, 8pm

Examining Dark Energy, the mysterious force that is unexpectedly causing the universe's expansion to speed up. Its effects were discovered in 1998, but physicists still do not know what it is, and its very existence calls into question Albert Einstein's General Theory of Relativity; the cornerstone of modern physics. The hunt for the identity of Dark Energy is on, and although experiments conducted on earth and in space generate data that might provide a clue, physics is hoping another Einstein might emerge and write a new theory that explains the mystery.

THURSDAY

Medical Mysteries: The Extraordinary Swollen Woman & Other Medical Mysteries Channel 5, 8pm

Another batch of puzzling health issues are heading our way this week, so if you're in the slightest bit squeamish, look away now. Pregnant women expect to get bigger in a certain area during their nine-month term, but 33-year-old Izzy is suffering from bizarre swellings all over her body and face – but has no idea why. However, a new GP may be able to unlock the mystery of her condition. Also hoping for a miracle cure is Beth who, for the past two years, has been struggling to leave her home due to extreme dizziness. Now she hopes a trip to see specialists in the US will help her. Finally, 11-year-old James suffers severe reactions whenever he steps outside – but can a cure be found for his allergy to sunlight?

FRIDAY

Billy Connolly's Tracks Across America ITV, 9pm

Pack up your belongings in a spotted handkerchief and grab your harmonica – we're ridin' the rails with Billy Connolly. For his latest travelogue, the comedian is travelling across the USA by train, from Chicago to New York, taking in 26 states, 6,000 miles and some parts of America that UK viewers rarely see on screen. Billy will even be providing his own soundtrack, courtesy of his banjo. In the first episode, he makes a stop at the Minnesota State Fair, where the attractions include corn beauty pageants and live animal births.

A must-see – Ashton Memorial with its imposing steps and views

The lap of luxury – a suite at Lancaster House

Lancaster House is an elegant hotel

Perfect area to relax with a cup of coffee

Leave reality behind and enjoy the chance to indulge yourself

WHILE I may have known it was going to happen I must confess my heart sank more than a little when the map took us off the M6 and in a different direction from the sign inviting us to The Lakes.

It was a little bit like boarding a plane and being told to turn right by a flight attendant when you have a hankering to be diverted left to the quails' eggs, head massage and free fizz of business class above the elbow in the face of standard.

But Lancaster, where we were headed, turned out to be anything but standard and Lancaster House the absolute lap of luxury.

The hotel is part of the English Lakes Resorts and Venues chain located in the north west, which is well-regarded by the industry and visitors alike. You may not have a lake on the doorstep or a mountain peak visible from the ensuite but you can certainly enjoy a flavour of the area from this 99-room delight. As well as friendly northern hospitality, there's a host of local delicacies to try created by head chef Damien Ng who has been at the helm for five years and has devised a menu that celebrates the best of nearby produce – and the freshest of ingredients – all sourced from within 25 miles of the hotel. We were spoilt for choice.

By Sarah Cowen-Strong

How could we resist the Port of Lancaster Smoke House Platter, with its offerings of smoked trout, lemon and parsley mackerel, smoked salmon, and pork and black pudding sausage with horseradish mayonnaise?

How could we say no to the Lancashire Hot Pot with its rich yet never-greasy confections of meat and vegetables? This modern and elegant hotel was bustling with visitors of all ages when we were there. Hikers and walkers relaxed cheek by jowl with holidaymakers lapping up the plush sofas and the magnificence of the Minstrel's Gallery.

Award

The hotel, which has won an award for its installation of 300 solar panels, has the tempting Sandpiper Leisure Club. As well as gym equipment and a beauty salon it has a swimming pool and an outside whirlpool bath. Step back inside the main body of the hotel and team this experience with a couple of chilled glasses of Prosecco from the bar and you can't help but smile.

Those who were using the hotel as a touring base had done their homework. It's near enough to the sights but far enough away to retain a sense of serenity. In some Lakeside towns the pavements are so full. Not so in Lancaster. It doesn't attract swarms of day-trippers but has history and colour in abundance.

Being a university city it has plenty of pubs, bars, clubs and coffee shops. You could take a tour of the town's Lancaster Brewery or put yourself into expert hands for a tour of Lancaster Castle, which until 2011 also operated as a prison.

Raise your eyes to the skies and you see the Grade I listed Ashton Memorial which is 150ft tall and is visible for miles around. The folly was commissioned by Lord James Ashton in memory of his late wife and, with its imposing steps and views, is a must-see.

Lancaster is a true gem. It has a charisma of its own yet is on the doorstep of a host of attractions and the Lakes are just up the motorway.

Internet of cars

There is much hype about how cars are becoming more connected to the internet and smartphones, but this is not the only future for the car.

Almost every car maker now talks about how connected their cars are, how easily they can pair with your smartphone and offer instant access to the internet and all of the functions on your phone. Handy as all this is, there is also a future where the car is not simply a glorified mobile phone carrier.

A future of connected cars has many upsides, as cars will be able to communicate their position to other vehicles and allow for some, or total, autonomous driving. This should help reduce collision rates and bring down serious injury and fatality numbers on our roads. There is also a future of instant traffic information, navigation and even the car checking itself in for a service having already told the garage what needs attention.

All of this is good progress, yet a connected car future is not all sweetness and light as there are consequences of allowing our vehicles to communicate with the world outside its windows.

For starters, there are already concerns about the security of vehicles that have an internet connection.

There have been a small number of instances where connected cars have been 'hacked' so the driver does not have control of the vehicle. The outcome of this scenario is a car could be maliciously controlled with the driver in it or unlocked, started and stolen without the need for a key.

It's estimated that 89,000 cars in London in 2013 were stolen using electronic hacking, so this is a problem already afflicting car owners.

Another downside of cars becoming more connected and being able to book themselves in for a service without you having to lift a phone or tap a keyboard, is cost. A car with more technology fitted is going to cost more than one without, so the price you pay up front to buy or lease a car will be greater.

More costs will come in replacing any component that is connected to the car's onboard monitoring, as every part will require a sensor. Add complexity to a component and it rises in price to manufacture and fit a replacement. In a worst-case scenario, cars could fail MoT tests or even be scrapped because a sensor has failed and it's too expensive to replace even if the car otherwise drives perfectly well.

Connected cars also open up a debate about privacy and civil liberty. If a car is connected to the internet, it can easily be monitored for position and speed. This could mean any driver parking illegally or breaking the speed limit by even the slimmest margin could be automatically fined.

Insurance companies might also impose stricter usage conditions that can then be monitored 24-hours a day, which could be good news for those seeking to lower their premiums. However, how much information will be shared with insurance companies, council parking attendants and the police?

Car companies and governments are working to establish these guidelines, but don't expect the car to become little more than a big mobile phone too soon.

Astra Sports Tourer now in showrooms

The new Astra Sports Tourer is now on sale priced from £16,585 on-the-road, with first cars arriving in Vauxhall showrooms this March after its global debut at the 2015 Frankfurt Motor Show.

One of the UK's top-selling and best-loved cars, Astra is a household name for British car buyers with almost three million sold in the UK over the last 36 years, including 50,000 in the last 12 months. More than 25 per cent of British motorists have either owned or driven an Astra, so reaction to a new model will always be felt across the market.

The Astra Sports Tourer is based on an all-new lightweight vehicle architecture with a new design, powertrains and technology. It is built at Vauxhall's Ellesmere Port plant in Cheshire. It is the only plant to build this body style.

The Sports Tourer has proved a popular car in the UK market, with sales making it the third most popular estate car sold in 2015 with key rivals including the Ford Focus Estate and the Volkswagen Golf Estate. With a fleet/retail sales split of 80:20, it holds great appeal as a company car, taking drivers from their daily commute to weekend activities. The Sports Tourer will also appeal to private buyers who are looking for a practical family car.

Vauxhall's all-new Astra and Astra Sports Tourer have secured 2,000 jobs at the Ellesmere Port manufacturing plant in Cheshire after workers won a long-term contract and a £140 million investment from GM.

UK firms, including those in manufacturing, utilities, construction, transportation and storage, benefit from approaching £70 million gross value added that results directly from Vauxhall's investment in Ellesmere Port (source: Centre for Economics and Business Research).

And this great British success story doesn't end there. The Astra range was designed by a team led by Brits Mark Adams and Malcom Ward. In his role as Vauxhall/Opel's design director, Ward follows in the footsteps of both his father and grandfather who both worked at Vauxhall.

Also looking forward to a bright future is Vauxhall's other UK manufacturing plant, Britain's leading commercial vehicle plant, located in Luton, where the Vivaro van is produced. Workers in Luton won a similar long term contract to their colleagues at Ellesmere Port. Their agreement runs for 10 years after a £125 million investment that secured 1,500 jobs.

The latest generation Sports Tourer has almost the same dimensions as the outgoing model. While the driver can enjoy 26 millimetres of additional headroom, passengers in the rear have 28 millimetres more legroom. The new Astra Sports Tourer can take up to three child seats in the rear and can also carry up to 1,630 litres of luggage thanks to the efficient packaging.

Inside, gracefully sculpted shapes are combined with premium materials and functional clarity. Switches and controls are reduced to an absolute minimum, supporting the efficiency and ease of use that is at the core of the Astra. The centrepiece of the new Astra's interior is the award-winning IntelliLink system. The location of the system was carefully selected to ensure both an ideal view of the display as well as easy reach and use.

Lightweight

The Sports Tourer is based on an all-new lightweight architecture. Its body is more lithe and aerodynamic and is also driven by powerful, weight-optimised engines. The new Astra Sports Tourer is up to 190kg lighter than its predecessor. It is the most aerodynamically efficient estate car built by Vauxhall with a co-efficient drag-value of 0.272 making it as streamlined as the five-door variant.

The bodyshell and structure alone are around 85kg lighter. High-strength and ultra-high-strength lightweight steels, more compact subframes as well as modification to the front and rear suspension all contributed to this result. Further size and mass-optimisation measures include shorter front and rear overhangs, an exhaust system that is up to 25 per cent lighter and smaller wheels and tyres that weigh up to 11.5kg less. The brake system has less mass to decelerate, making a more compact design possible (weighing 10kg less) while delivering even better braking performance.

Another plus on the efficiency side is the latest-generation Vauxhall engines. They distinguish themselves with their compact and ultra-efficient design: for instance, the new 1.4 ECOTEC Direct Injection Turbo engine now weighs less. Its aluminum engine block alone is 10kg lighter than the cast-iron block of its predecessor.

Reduced weight also leads to noticeably higher agility while saving fuel and CO2 emissions. The Sports Tourer with the 1.0-litre Turbo and Easytronic 3.0 combination is an economical and clean high-tech petrol engine. The engine portfolio has helped boost efficiency with outputs ranging from 110PS to 200PS and fuel consumption and combined CO2 emissions of up to 83.1mpg and 89g/km respectively.

For the first time on a Vauxhall, the tailgate can be opened without a touch or a remote control. In order to improve loading space the Sports Tourer Elite model comes with 40/20/40 foldable rear seats enabling even more flexible loading space configurations. The FlexOrganiser product range with side rails, dividing nets and various fastening options is available as an option so that all loaded materials can be stored safely and tidily.

With the Levante a new wind is blowing through the SUV segment, guaranteeing the passion, the flair and the exclusivity that have distinguished all Maserati models for over a century. Made in Italy and designed in the Maserati studio at the FCA "Centro Stile" of Turin, its design defines a new style in the SUV world, combining coupé lines with impressive interior space.

The Maserati Levante marks a turning point in Maserati's history. The brand new model, which made its world premiere at the 2016 Geneva Motor Show, enables the Trident to access the largest luxury segment in the world. The Levante significantly contributes to the creation of the most complete product line-up in Maserati's history.

The name Levante was inspired by a warm, Mediterranean wind that can change from mild to gale force in an instant, mirroring the character of the first Maserati SUV. It's based on the evolution of the saloon platform, designed exclusively by Maserati. The chassis has been specifically developed to offer unique on-road drivability and competitive off-road capability, with day-to-day comfort and practicality. The premium Italian SUV was conceived around three main pillars: Design, Exclusivity and Performance. It represents the optimum blend of these three elements in the SUV world.

The Levante's design is distinctive and attractive, embracing the aesthetic elements of Italian style. The design brings a new concept to the SUV world, combining spaciousness and coupé lines while achieving the best aerodynamic efficiency in its segment with a Cx coefficient of just 0.31.

Its exclusivity stems from technical features like Air Suspension and the Q4 AWD system, which come as standard equipment, and the high level of customisation that includes two cutting-edge packages, Sport and Luxury. The result is a driving experience that is as unique as the Maserati brand and its customers.

Agility

The Maserati Levante delivers unparalleled agility in the luxury SUV class. The thoroughbred on-road handling typical of all Maserati cars and the solid off-road capabilities, as demanded in the SUV segment, describe the car's overall ethos. The Levante is here to excite any sports car driver counting on performance-oriented features, such as the extensive use of lightweight materials, ideal 50-50 per cent weight distribution and it's lowest in class centre of gravity.

The aluminium "double wishbone - five link" suspension layout is comprised of standard Air Springs and electronically controlled Skyhook shock absorbers. In conjunction with the intelligent Q4 All-Wheel-Drive system and the newly introduced Torque Vectoring system which deliver GT on-road behaviour and surprising - for a Maserati - off-road capabilities: the Levante is designed to deliver best in class comfort on rough roads and handling on snow and ice. The off-road equipment completes a product made to surprise avid travellers and adventure lovers as well.

Engine-wise, the Levante is equipped with the latest evolution of the Maserati 3-litre V6 engines. The two versions of the twin-turbo petrol engine and the economical turbodiesel are globally acclaimed for their unique Maserati signature sound and for their exceptional performance.

The petrol Maserati V6 engine with latest GDI and twin-turbo is available in two versions: the top of the range 430 hp and the exciting 350 hp. The most powerful Levante makes it to 100 km/h in 5.2 seconds and has a top speed of 264 km/h, while the figures for the 350 hp version are 6.0 seconds and 251 km/h respectively.

The Levante is also available with a common-rail, direct injection turbodiesel V6 with reduced dwell time injectors. The 3-litre engine is capable of 275 hp and delivers 0-100 km/h in 6.9 seconds and a 230 km/h maximum speed while keeping the fuel economy as low as 7.2 litres/100 km under the New European Driving Cycle (NEDC).

Both petrol and diesel versions of the Maserati Levante use the eight-speed automatic ZF gearbox that provides seamless comfort and fast gear shifting, depending on the selected drive mode. The Levante driver can choose between four drive modes, "Normal", "I.C.E.", "Sport" and "Off-road". Each one constitutes distinct characteristics intelligently altering engine, transmission, suspension and electronics features.

Maserati's more than 100-year tradition of craftsmanship and cutting-edge technology guarantees outstanding quality right down to the tiniest of details. The five-metre long Levante is the longest car in its segment and its three-metre wheelbase is 6-10 cm longer than that of its major competitors.

As a result, the car is one of the roomiest in its class and also boasts the sportiest and most elegant design in the luxury SUV segment.

Prices and spec for Volvo S90 and V90

By James Parker

The new Volvo S90 and V90 are now available to order in the UK, with on-the-road prices starting at £32,555 for the S90 saloon and £34,555 for the V90 estate.

The S90 and V90 are the latest models to be built on Volvo's all-new Scalable Product Architecture (SPA) platform and benefit from Volvo's ground-breaking Drive-E powertrains. Like the XC90 before them, they feature the new face of Volvo, including the T-shaped LED headlights that make them instantly recognisable.

Both models will initially be available with a choice of two 2.0-litre, four-cylinder diesel engines – the tax-efficient D4 and the powerful and refined D5 PowerPulse – and in two trim levels, Momentum and Inscription.

The front-wheel-drive 190 hp D4 comes with an eight-speed automatic gearbox, and offers combined fuel consumption of 64.2 mpg and CO2 emissions of just 116 g/km in the S90. In the V90, these figures are 62.8 mpg and 119 g/km.

Responsiveness

The 235 hp D5 utilises an innovative technology called PowerPulse to boost responsiveness. This uses compressed air, which is stored in a tank in the engine bay and refilled automatically, to spool up the turbo at low revs. This helps to overcome turbo lag, which is the short delay in the power delivery you experience in traditional turbo-charged engines.

To harness the engine's power, the D5 PowerPulse comes with all-wheel drive. An eight-speed automatic gearbox is also standard.

Every version of the S90 and V90 is luxuriously equipped. As standard, even entry-level Momentum cars come with leather upholstery, LED headlights with active high beam, two-zone climate control with 'CleanZone' air-filtration system, keyless engine starting and heated front seats.

Volvo's Sensus infotainment system is also standard. This brings a 9" touch screen, satellite navigation (including lifetime annual map updates), a sophisticated voice-control system, and access to the internet and a range of cloud-based apps such as Tuneln, Stitcher and Yelp.

The S90 gets a powered bootlid, too, while the V90 benefits from a powered tailgate.

Pilot Assist, Volvo's innovative semi-autonomous drive feature, is standard on every S90 and V90. It automatically keeps you at a set speed or distance from the vehicle in front, braking and accelerating with the flow of traffic, and gives gentle steering inputs to keep the car within lane markings at motorway speeds up to 80 mph. Unlike previous versions of the system, it no longer needs to follow another car. Pilot Assist is another step towards fully autonomous driving.

Detection

The latest version of City Safety is also fitted to every S90 and V90. This includes automatic emergency braking with pedestrian and cyclist detection, and the world-first application of large-animal detection.

This feature helps to avoid or limit the severity of collisions with large animals such as deer or horses both at night and during the day.

Moving up to Inscription adds Nappa soft leather upholstery, powered front seats, a 12.3" active TFT driver's information display (Momentum cars get an 8" version), 18" diamond-cut/silver alloy wheels, keyless entry and handsfree boot/tailgate opening and closing.

Additional premium touches include walnut interior inlays, rear footwell and side step illumination, and chrome exterior details.

The optional Xenium package is available across the range and adds a powered tilt and slide glass sunroof (panoramic in the V90), a parking camera system with 360o surround view, and Park Assist Pilot, which includes automatic parallel and 90o parking.

Apple CarPlay is another option and allows you to access certain functions of your Apple device and CarPlay-optimised apps directly via the car's touch screen, voice control system or the buttons on the steering wheel. Also available is the exceptional Bowers and Wilkins premium sound system, which offers no less than 18 speakers and an output of 1,400W.

Both models are available to order now, with the first S90 customer deliveries expected in September and the first V90s in October.

Hot flagship Cupra gets power boost and a diet!

By Matt Kimberley

In the history of mid-life updates, this is possibly the smallest you'll ever have seen. No cosmetic revisions here – not even new alloy wheel designs. The only mechanical difference is a new exhaust system with lower back pressure and a 5.8kg weight saving.

Performance-wise, you'll have noticed the name is now Cupra 290, and true to form it has 10bhp more than the old one. A tweak in the engine management software delivers the nominal extra go, which comes hand-in-hand with a wider peak torque band. The full 258lb/ft is now put down between 1,700rpm and 5,800rpm; 50 and 500rpm improvements at either end.

There's also Full Link phone-pairing software, so whatever your phone, it should hook up to the system with a degree of internet connectivity.

Barnstormer

Nothing changes with the appearance because Seat has hit on a winning formula. The Leon is its best-selling car, and it's the first real international sales barnstormer the company has had this decade. It ain't broke, so there's no point fixing it. The change is the boot badge upgrade, to Cupra 290.

From right now you can get the 290 in three-door (and, most lovely) SC, do-it-all five-door hatch and more practical ST estate shapes.

The ST has a couple of hundred litres more boot space than the 380-litre tub shared by the other two.

There's adequate rear legroom for passengers but it's not the airiest place for them to be. If there was a black mark it would be on the white seat trim, because it's the sort of thing that will get dirty all too easily.

Seat hasn't taken the chance to enliven the cabin, so it stays one of the least imaginative in the hot hatch clique. The seats might be well-shaped and supportive, but a few Cupra logos and a flat-bottomed steering wheel aren't really enough any more.

But ... hit the road and that's forgotten. The free-revving 2.0-litre engine masters everyday driving with barely 20 per cent of its ability. Use a bit more right boot and fast turbo response gives you astonishing overtaking punch. Keep the throttle pinned on your friendly local private airfield and it'll get to the 155mph limiter with ease. It's a monster.

It also sounds better. That new exhaust gives it more of a growl both inside and outside the car, and, unless I was dreaming, it's a bit louder, too. Both good things.

It changes direction like a rogue firework, even under power, if you're skilled enough to handle it that way. The VAQ slip-limiting system is as good now as it always was – i.e. superb. Be aware, though, it's much firmer on the track-biased Michelin Pilot Cup 2 tyres, which you can add as options. The standard Continentals are much more forgiving.

With the Cupra 265 confined to the bin (almost no one bought one), the entry point is now the full-fat and beautiful SC.

The highest-spec Focus ST is more than £2,000 cheaper (before haggling), but it's not as accomplished a motor. On the other hand, a Civic Type R is more expensive and you get less equipment to show for it. The Leon could be a bit better equipped, as evidenced by the now-huge options list, but everything you really want is on the car already.

In terms of value, it splits the pack, but it depends what each buyer is actually looking or hoping for.

The flagship Cupra still isn't that common a sight in the UK, but owners are the type who exchange a nod and a wave. It's like a secret shared between two strangers: it's a hell of a car, and those who've bought one know exactly why.

The Cupra 290, like the 280 before it, is part of modern hot hatch legend – if only within the scene itself.

This car summed up in a single word: Mighty
If this car was a: Power Ranger it would be the red one. It's an all-rounder, a leader and boy does it have some skills.

NOTICE TO READERS

Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.

Stourbridge Titans are looking to build on their success in the third tier of the British Baseball Federation

Alan Jones, catcher and number 2 in the order, gets in some practice

Big-hitting from Titans during training

Big-hitting baseball Titans pitching in for a brighter future

STOURBRIDGE Titans baseball club are looking to build on their success story by catching the next generation of stars.

The Titans have made impressive progress since realising their dream to form a club five years ago. They now compete in the British Baseball Federation AA Central Division.

Shaun Healy, Corey Millard and Samantha Smith were the founder members who got the ball rolling in 2011. And after a testing couple of seasons the Titans have excelled on the field, winning the league title in 2014 and finishing runners-up last year.

They now boast a senior squad of up to 25 players and are looking to the future as baseball grows in popularity this side of the Atlantic.

"The founders of the club were Shaun, Corey, Samantha," said secretary Stuart Walton, who traded bowling off-spin for Coseley Cricket Club for a shot at pitching with the Titans.

Diamond

"They all played at the start and Shaun and Corey still do now.

They used to play for Birmingham Bandits, but they were travelling a long way because they lived in Stourbridge. So they said 'right, we want to start a new club of our own'. And so they started the club at Thorns Community College which is where we are based.

"We had one of the old playing fields and we built everything ourselves, an 18ft high backstop, the diamond, everything. It was the whole Field of Dreams - if you build it they will come. Then it was a question of recruiting players. I think it was one of the first to join up.

SPORTING FEATURE

By Nick Elwell

"We had one of the old playing fields and we built everything ourselves. It was the whole Field of Dreams - if you build it they will come."

"I used to play cricket and I had an interest in baseball. But I was never going to get any further at cricket and I got more of a buzz from playing a new sport.

"I was enjoying the fact that it was something new and that I was learning new things."

Walton is now keen for other people to enjoy that buzz, especially youngsters keen to try a new sport and chase a possible Olympic dream.

"One of the things we are really trying to do is develop a youth team," he said.

"We started Junior Titans towards the end of last year to try to get more kids involved in the game from around our area.

"We were focused on getting the field ready and building the senior team and our next focus is getting the youth team together. We need to keep the club alive.

"Baseball is going to be seriously considered for the 2020 Olympics. That won't be decided until this August, but it looks very likely. The Olympics are in Japan and it's Japan's national sport. In four years time you could actually be an Olympian and playing for the GB team."

No prior knowledge of baseball is required to play the sport with Titans well-stocked with coaches and kit to help newcomers learn the ropes.

"We have one guy who is from America who played at high school when he was in America but everyone else started from scratch," Walton said. "One of the big things we need to do is to raise awareness. Most people don't even realise baseball is played in this country, never mind that there is a side in Stourbridge," he added.

Titans compete in the third tier of the British Baseball Federation set up with the new season starting in April.

Birmingham Bandits, Long Eaton Storm, Nottingham Rebels, Leicester Blue Sox and Milton Keynes Bucks are their league rivals with matches played on Sundays on a double-header basis.

Travelling

"We play double-headers over seven innings to cut down on the travelling," added Walton.

"If you get out, then another eight batters later you are in again. Your day is not ruined if you get out first ball.

"In cricket you can get out first ball and end up paying six quid for your tea to field for 50 overs. In baseball, if you get out it's not that big a deal because you get to bat again."

Anyone interested in joining the Titans, or going along for a taster session, should contact Stuart Walton on 07854 353335.

Training is on Sunday mornings during the winter at Thorns Community Centre, from 11.30am-1.30pm, and on Tuesdays from 6.30pm at the same venue during the season.

Coach Jeff Nash during training

First base and pitcher Karl Ensor

Glassboys' hopes dealt major blow

Stourbridge 1 Ashton Utd 2
STOURBRIDGE suffered a severe setback to their play-off prospects home to promotion rivals Ashton despite early efforts by Glassboys strikers Karl Hawley and Justin Richards.

Chris Lait put Hawley clean through after eight minutes but the league's top marksman fired straight at Ashton 'keeper Paul Phillips. Then Richards miscued in front of goal.

On the 26th minute defender Dan Scarr robbed Ashton's Matty Chadwick when clean through on goal.

The match turned on 28 minutes when James Dean got goal side of Glassboys defender Stuart Pierpoint and went through only to be brought down by Pierpoint, who was sent off. Chris Baguley converted the penalty.

Stourbridge were forced to regroup, Lait being sacrificed for substitute defender Joe Hull. Despite being down to 10 men, Stourbridge still had a chance to claw themselves level when full back Kristian Green played through Hawley but the striker's shot lacked enough power to trouble Phillips.

Matters worsened on 42 minutes when Dean beat the offside trap to slot home past advancing Glassboys 'keeper Matthew Gould.

Stourbridge struggled to make any impact after the break as Ashton defended in depth at every opportunity. But Stour threw themselves a lifeline on 78 minutes when Matt Dodd crossed to the far post for Junior Smikle to smash home, but it was only to be consolation.

Workington 1 Stourbridge 1
Glassboys were held to a third straight league draw after taking a first-half lead through Sean Geddes' free-kick at fourth-placed Workington on Saturday. Then Stourbridge were pegged back by Joe McGee's header.

County finals next as Hagley end the season unbeaten

Cookley (120-1) beat Enville A (78-3) by 42 runs

ENVILLE A arrived with only four players and the game would not have proceeded but for Cookley offering a player to field: as a 'match' it defied the description and was not fair to the opposition.

Cookley elected to bat and took advantage of Enville's man short in the field. Enville, with a massive target to chase and only having four batsmen made a decent fist of it with Alex Craven hitting some good shots. The other batsman tried to make a respectable score but fell well short.

Hagley (102-3) beat Swindon (74) by 28 runs

HAGLEY had a disastrous start losing Joe Lennon for two with the score on eight. John McDonnell took up the mantle to try and get a respectable score finishing on a 102-3.

Swindon had eyes on an upset but lost two wickets in the first over and never recovered though a fine knock by Wales (30) took them to 74 in the last over.

Hagley ended undefeated and progress to the County Finals on April 17.

Paddock in charge for points victory

BLOXWICH'S Luke Paddock displayed his skills to earn a points victory in his hometown at the top of the bill on Saturday night.

The former Midlands light welterweight champion shut-out capable scrapper 'Fonz' Alexander Anderson in the top liner at Walsall Town Hall, writes Craig Birch.

Local rival Martin Gethin, the former English and British title holder, watched on from ring-side having pulled out of appearing on the show through a chest injury.

All six of the under-card contests were four rounders. Midlands light middleweight champion and two-time British title challenger Jason Welborn provided chief support.

Rowley Regis' Welborn was in action for the first time since courageously taking three-time world title challenger Matthew Macklin the distance last October.

The never-stopped Adam Jones proved a durable roadblock and made it competitive early on, taking a share of the first round. Welborn settled, testing Jones to the body. The tough Jones made it through but Welborn will be happy to get the rounds in the bank. His hand was raised by a 40-37 score-line.

Heavier Luke Allon tried to bully Tom Stokes in their middleweight bout, but only succeeded in spurring him on. Allon bobbed and weaved, even showboated, but there was nothing for him to smile about when he had to take a knee after a right hook to the body. He gathered himself and boxed on to the final bell, meaning Stokes had to settle for a 40-36 points shut out.

Welterweight Sid Bowater scored a first round knockout of Brummie Dwayne Sheldon.

DK ROMP TO SAFETY ZONE

DK 54 Kenilworth 7

DUDLEY Kingswinford went in the game against Kenilworth having lost their last six games and not safe from relegation – but all that changed as DK recorded the third win this season in which they had scored more than 50 points.

They scored eight tries, converting seven, for a tally of 54.

The DKs were beset by injury and players not available and the game started with Kenilworth exerting the early pressure, forcing a penalty that they missed. They were soon to rue that miss.

DK started to dominate with their phase play. With pressure mounting, a gap opened up and long-striding flanker Lewis Hannibal made the most of a stretched defence to gallop through for the opening try. Tompkins converted.

DK soon struck again as Nic Adams scored in the Wanderers' corner, with two more points from wide out by Tompkins.

It was soon 21-0 as Kenilworth were again caught on the counter and this time Shif Shillingford ran the try in.

The fourth try of the first half was perhaps the most satisfying with a penalty put into the corner by Tompkins. A training ground move ended with Stef Shillingford going in under the posts, and the extras slotted 28-0 at half time.

The second half saw a feast of running rugby started by an excellent solo try by Ryan Wicketts, who evaded several defenders. Shillingford scored a third try to take the score to 40-, followed by Tompkins' only missed conversion.

At this point the visitors scored their only try which was converted but it was too little too late.

Young Tom Walker deserves a mention after he came on for a limping Nic Adams, only to be yellow carded almost immediately for preventing release.

DKs finished the game with two further tries after a surging run from Mitch Grealy, which was a reward for some hard running in the centre, and the final try by Duncan Tompkins to take his personal points tally for the day to 19.

Netherton's karate kid for GB

Ben Young, aged 13, of Netherton, competing in Malta and Ireland

A DUDLEY teenager will be representing Great Britain at the WUKF World Karate Championships in Dublin this summer.

Ormiston Forge Academy student Ben Young, aged 13, from Netherton, is competing as part of the All-Styles Karate Alliance.

Ben has been taking part in karate at Dudley Shukokai Karate Club for eight years, training four times a week.

Malta

In that time, he has attended a number of competitions and tournaments and will be competing in Malta this month in the Open Karate Championships.

The WUKF Championships in Dublin, held in June, will be the sixth held by the Federation and include divisions for children, cadets, juniors, seniors and veterans.

Principal at Ormiston Forge Academy Andrew Burns said: "Congratulations to Ben, this is an outstanding achievement."

"He has shown incredible commitment to his sport and we wish him all the very best of luck in his upcoming competitions."

The World Union of Karate-do Organisations (WUKF) was originally founded in 1970 and is based in Belgium.

Heathens return to Monmore

CRADLEY boss Will Pottinger is relishing the prospect of taking the team back to Wolverhampton for home meetings – starting next Monday against Belle Vue.

The Heathens have a long unbeaten record at Monmore and the switch back there from Perry Barr has been welcomed by fans and riders alike.

A bumper crowd is expected for the opener which sees the return of Matt Williamson in Belle Vue colours after he quit Cradley in the winter to join up with his local club.

Said Pottinger: "It goes without saying that being at Monmore Green once again is a boost for the club."

"Everyone just seems to feel a bit more at home with that as our home track, and in previous years we've created a great home track advantage there."

"We've still got a long-standing unbeaten run there which we'll be aiming to continue, and although we had a decent record at Perry Barr last year, having the level of home advantage that Monmore offers is a real positive from our point of view."

"We'll be hoping to take advantage of that and get some big home wins to boost our confidence and hopefully pick up maximum points from our home meetings."

Heathens bosses have also revealed the club's new race jacket design for the 2016 with a nod to the past. The Heathen head and hammer are reunited in a red circle with sponsors logos.

Club Director Nigel Pearson said: "It's never easy combining so many commercial partners with the club logo in a limited space, but we feel we've achieved it quite well."

"Our fans love the history of the club but we also have to promote the younger element of support and that's something we will continue to do."

It's another away day win for Yeltz

Ilkerton 1 Halesowen 3

HALESOWEN Town made it back-to-back away wins with a three-goal first-half blast. It took just eight minutes for the Yeltz to take the lead in this Evo-Stik Northern Premier away game.

A long free-kick was misjudged by the defence and Kaiman Anderson lifted the ball over goalkeeper Jamie Hannis and headed it into the empty net. Anderson got the second on 27 minutes when Daniel Sweeney put a cross straight on his head three minutes later. Ashley Parsons-Smith's fierce effort squeezed under Hannis at the near post. Dexter Atkinson pulled one back on 74 minutes.

ALUMINIUM WINDOWS

Aluminium windows offer strength, durability and are highly resistant to rust and corrosion. They provide slim-lines, more glass area and less visible frame.

Our aluminium windows are a premium product, maintenance free and built to last, with the life span of aluminium being measured in decades rather than years. Aluminium is very sustainable, endlessly recyclable and very environmentally friendly.

Another benefit of aluminium is the ability for your windows to be coloured any of over 200 different RAL colours. You can even have your windows manufactured to have different colours inside and out. Our Aluminium Products are painted in a polyester powder coat finish, which is baked on for a tough and resilient paint finish that will not flake or fade over time.

We supply a wide variety of aluminium windows from the biggest names in the industry. If you are looking for a feature, or a specific design then we can recommend the system that best meets your requirements.

APEER DOORS

The Apeer 70mm thick double rebate Apeer 70 is one of the best doors on the market. DW Windows has a range of doors on show in their new showroom at Meadow Lane, why not come along and see how these doors can enhance the look of your home.

SLIDING SASH/FLUSH WINDOWS

Efficient, easy to use and authentic, here at dw windows our sliding sash windows offer both style and functionality.

Our sliding sash windows are built to slide vertically, either downwards or upwards. With a modern yet classic design, DW windows Vertical Sliding Sash windows maintain the character of a more traditional property, with all the benefits of our state-of-the-art uPVC profile.

Flush sash windows are the latest exciting development from DW Windows. They offer the realism of a traditional pre-1932 timber window combined with 21st century thermal benefits.

Many property owners require a traditional timber window frame, sometimes due to planning or environmental restrictions. DW Windows and Linair recognised the need to develop a casement window frame that would fit into any property where the sash fitted flush into the frame – and which could be foiled to look like traditional timber or to offer a sleek, contemporary finish. DW flush sash windows, are A+ energy rated.
